The price of white rice has fallen slightly.

Assam.—Moderate to heavy rain fell in all districts and generally facilitated agricultural operations. Plucking and manufacture of tea continue. Transplantation of winter rice, ploughing of land for and sowing of paddy, planting of seedlings and of sugarcane and harvesting of early autumn rice are in progress. Prospects of paddy, jute and sugarcane are generally fair and those of tea are good. Some damage to tea by insect pests is reported from Sibsagar. The price of common rice, on the whole, is almost stationary. Fodder is insufficient in Cachar. Cattle disease is reported from seven districts.

Bengal.—Light to moderate rain fell generally throughout the Province. Ploughing of fields for winter rice is in brisk progress. Transplantation continues in some districts. Weeding of autumn crops is approaching completion. Prospects of standing crops except in some of the eastern districts are reported to be fairly good. Cattle disease exists in twelve districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about one per cent as compared with that of the preceding week. Agricultural loans continue to be issued in Birbhum and Noakhali.

Bihar and Orissa.—Light to moderate rain was fairly general over the Province. Preparation of lands and sowing of autumn crops continue. More rain is wanted in some districts of Bihar. Sugarcane, jute and vegetables are doing well. The average price of common rice has risen slightly as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. Distress in the Basudebpur thana in Balasore continues. The average daily attendance on test work during the past week was 62. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good.

United Provinces.—Rain has fallen in most districts. More rain is needed in four districts. Standing crops are doing well and their prospects are good. Sowing of autumn crops is fairly general. The condition of agricultural stock is good and cattle disease is reported from only a few villages. Fodder and water are ample everywhere. Markets are adequately stocked. Prices are fairly steady though light rise is reported from thirteen districts.

Punjab.—Light rain fell in the south east and in parts of the submontane and central districts and was beneficial to standing crops. More rain is wanted generally everywhere. Extra spring crops are being reaped in some districts with yield average to good. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are normal. The condition of standing extra spring and autumn crops is average to good. Cattle are healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation are generally sufficient. Prices are either stationary or are rising slightly and in the case of spring food grains are at warning rates but in other cases they range between warning and scarcity rates or are above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat :—Ambala and Rawalpindi 10, Lahore 10½ and Lyallpur 11 seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—The week was rainless. The weather is very hot. Rain is urgently wanted in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of standing crops is fairly good in Peshawar, good to average in Bannu and average in Dera Ismail Khan. Hail fell in a village of Bannu but no damage is reported. The Paharpur canal in Dera Ismail Khan is running. Wheat has been threshed and stocked with outturn, on the whole, above average in Peshawar, good to average in Bannu and normal in Dera Ismail Khan. Harvesting of extra spring crops in the Marwat tahsil is proceeding and the outturn is good. The condition of cattle is generally good. Fodder and water are generally sufficient. Prices of wheat have fallen in the Bannu tahsil but have risen in Marwat. Prices of other food grains are stationary in Bannu and have a tendency to rise in Marwat. Elsewhere prices are high but stationary.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was pretty good but crops want more rain. Agricultural operations for autumn crops are in progress. Cattle are generally healthy. Prices are rising. Water and fodder are sufficient.

Rajputana.—The rainfall was heavy but unequally distributed nowhere much more than 1 inch except in the Mewar hilly tracts where it was 255 cents. The weather is generally hot and cloudy. Lands are being prepared for autumn sowings. Cattle disease is reported from parts of Mewar, Dungarpur and Tonk but elsewhere the condition of agricultural stock is good. Fodder and water are generally sufficient. Prices are falling in Jaipur, Tonk and Karauli, are rising in Kotah and are steady elsewhere.

The principal falls were over 3 inches in Indore and in the Khargon pargana of the Indore State, over 5 inches in Bundelkhand, over 3 inches in Bagli and over 2 inches in the Ratlam State of the Malwa Agency. Preparation of land for autumn crops is in progress everywhere. The probable outturn of extra crops is normal in Gwalior. Agricultural stock is in good condition except in the Narsinghgarh State of the Bhopal Agency, in the Baiohari tahsil of the Rewah State and in parts of Dhar of the Southern States where cattle disease is reported. The fodder supply is sufficient throughout except in the Shajapur, Shujalpur, Agar, Jawad and Bakaner parganas of the Gwalior State. Prices are fluctuating in all districts of the Indore State, are normal in Bhopal, are very high in Baghelkhand and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather was hot and cloudy in the earlier part of the week till rain fell. The rainfall was general over the Provinces, ranging from 1 inch in Raipur to 11 inches in Buldana. Preparation of land for autumn crops has been practically completed and sowing has begun in almost all districts. Cattle are in good condition. Fodder and water are generally sufficient. Fluctuations in prices are unimportant.

Feudatory States.—Light to moderate showers of rain fell in all the States nowhere exceeding 2 inches. Sowing of autumn crops is in full swing.

Bombay.—General and beneficial rain was received during the week throughout the Presidency Proper but more rain is needed in Kaira and Belgaum. Preparations for the cultivation of autumn crops continue in Sind, Gujarat and the Konkan. Sowing is generally progressing. Seedlings have been damaged by insects in two talukas of the Upper Sind Frontier. The fodder supply is sufficient except in two mahals of Karachi, five talukas of Thar and Parkar, two talukas of Nawabshah and Hyderabad and one taluka of Larkana. Cattle are in good condition. HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

No. 10675—10691-112.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry.

The following translation of a Decree No. 599 of the Governor of Cochin China, dated the 26th April 1915, regulating the disembarkation of foreigners at Saigon is published for general information.

I.—From this date no foreigner shall be allowed to disembark in the Colony unless he is provided with a properly authenticated passport or unless the Consul of the nation to which he says he belongs guarantees him.

Every foreigner, allowed to disembark here, if he wishes to reside in the Colony, must provide himself with a special Permit issued by the Chief of the Police.

II.—Foreigners not allowed to disembark must remain on board the steamer. Those who may succeed in disembarking without leave will be sent back by the next steamer either at their own expense or in the case of destitution at the expense of the Shipping Line bringing them here

III.—The following regulations applying to passenger steamers coming from the North will also in the future be applied to those coming from the South.

A Police Official will go on board the boat at Nhabe. The Master must hand him a list of all foreigners on board including foreigners forming part of the crew.

IV.—All Ship Officials must give every assistance in their power to the Police to prevent foreigners not authorised to land from leaving the ship.

V.—French Citizens or Protégés will be obliged to prove their nationality before disembarking either producing a proper Passport or other documents proving their status. Those who may be unable to produce such documents or who possess insufficient proof of their nationality will only be allowed to land if they can produce some one (approved of by the Authorities) to go security for them.

No. 206.—The following is published for general information:—

No. 886-T., dated the 24th June 1915.

RESOLUTION—By the Railway Board.

Amendments in rule 247(b), Chapter XV, Part I, and in Schedule I, Chapter III, Part II, of the General Rules for working open lines of railway.

RESOLUTION.—It has been represented that the second part of Rule 247 (b) of the General Rules for working open lines of railway, as it stands at present, if strictly observed, would interfere with shunting operations inasmuch as it requires the locking of all facing points for the passage of "trains" which expression, according to the definition given in rule 1(35), would include engines engaged on shunting operations, whereas the intention of the second part of rule 247 (b) is that locking of facing points should be required before the passage of "running trains" only, vide definition in rule 1(27).

2. Moreover, since the issue of Railway Board's Resolution No. 1555-T., dated the 5th October 1914, certain further amendments have become necessary in the revised rules regulating the packing and carriage by railway in India of dangerous goods, other than explosives, which were promulgated with Railway Board's Resolution No. 1025-R. T., dated the 10th June 1912.

3. In exercise, therefore, of the powers conferred by the Notification of the Government of India in the Department of Commerce and Industry, No. 801, dated the 24th March 1905, the Railway Board sanction under section 47, sub-section (3) of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), the adoption by the administrations of all lines of railway in British India administered by the Government and for the time being used for the public carriage of passengers, animals and goods, of the amendments specified in the annexure hereto, to the General Rules of 1906 for working open lines of railway.

4. The Railway Board also desire that the said amendments may be brought to the notice of the administrations of the several railways not administered by the Government and that the Agents of those railways may be invited to submit a formal application for the adoption of the said amendments on their respective lines.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution, with the accompanying amendments, be published under a notification in Part I of the Gazette of India, as required by section 47, sub-section (3), of the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (IX of 1890), and that a copy thereof be kept open for inspection at railway stations as directed by sub-section (6) of the same section; also that a copy of this Resolution and of its enclosure be communicated to the Local Governments* and Administrations and to the officers noted in the margin, for information and necessary action; and to the Local Governments and Administrations and to the officers noted in the margin † for information.

In supersession of the Home Department Notification No. 3291-(Public), dated the 7th December 1900 and this Department Notification No. 370-39, dated the 13th January 1912, and in exercise of the powers conferred by Sections 17 and 6 of the Indian Explosives Act, 1884 (IV of 1884) :—

1. The Governor General in Council is pleased hereby to declare that acetylene, when liquid or when subject to a pressure above that of the atmosphere capable of supporting a column of water exceeding two hundred and fifty inches in height, and whether or not in admixture with other substances, or when in admixture with atmospheric air or with oxygen gas in whatever proportion and at whatever pressure, and whether or not in admixture with other substances, shall be deemed to be an explosive within the meaning of the said Act, subject to the following exception ; that if it be shown to the satisfaction of the Governor General in Council that acetylene declared to be an explosive by this Notification when in admixture with any substance, or in any form or condition, is not possessed of explosive properties, the Governor General in Council may, by order, exempt such acetylene from being deemed to be an explosive within the meaning of the said Act.

Provided that nothing in this Notification shall apply to acetylene in admixture with air when such admixture takes place only in a burner or contrivance in which the mixture is intended to be burnt :

Provided also, that nothing in this Notification shall be held to apply to an admixture of acetylene and air which may unavoidably occur in the first use or recharging of an apparatus, properly designed and constructed with a view to the production of pure acetylene :

Provided also, that, subject to the conditions hereinafter specified, acetylene, when in admixture with oil-gas (that is to say, a gas manufactured from mineral oil), shall not be deemed to be an explosive within the meaning of the said Act when under compression—

(1) The acetylene shall be generated only by the Atkins Dry Process.

(2) The proportion of acetylene shall not exceed fifty parts by volume in every one hundred parts of the mixture of acetylene and oil-gas.

(3) The acetylene and oil-gas shall be mixed together in a chamber or vessel before the gases are subjected to compression.

(4) The mixture shall not be compressed to a pressure exceeding one hundred and fifty pounds per square inch.

Provided also that, subject to the conditions hereinafter specified, acetylene, when contained in a homogeneous porous substance, with or without acetone, shall not be deemed to be an explosive within the meaning of the said Act—

(1) The pressure shall not exceed one hundred and fifty pounds to the square inch.

(2) The porous substance shall fill, as completely as possible, the cylinder or other vessel into which the acetylene is compressed, and the porosity of the substance shall not exceed eighty per cent.

(3) Every cylinder or other vessel into which acetylene is to be compressed shall be thoroughly tested to a pressure of not less than double that to which the vessel is to be subjected in use, and shall be fitted with a fusible plug designed to act at or below a temperature of 212° F.

(4) Every cylinder or vessel in which acetylene is compressed shall be permanently and conspicuously marked with the name of the manufacturer and the words—"Acetylene compressed into porous substance exempted by Government of India, Department of Commerce and Industry, Notification No. 706-39, dated the 30th January 1915," and shall bear a label giving the date when it was last filled together with the name and address of the filler.

(5) When acetone is used for absorbing the acetylene due precaution shall be taken that the quantity of acetone is such that when fully charged with acetylene it does not completely fill the porosity of the porous substance.

When the operation of compressing the acetylene is carried out in British India:—

(6) The apparatus by means of which the acetylene is compressed into a porous substance shall be fitted with a safety valve designed to act at a pressure of 200 lbs. per square inch, and shall be surrounded by rope mantlets in such a manner as efficiently to protect the operators.

II. The Governor General in Council is pleased to prohibit absolutely the manufacture, possession and importation of such acetylene as is declared by paragraph I of this Notification to be an explosive.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 3rd July 1915.

Burma.—Heavy rainfall is reported in the wet zone but scanty and irregular in the dry zone districts. Ploughing, sowing and transplantation are progressing normally in the rice growing areas. In the dry zone sowing of sesamum, cotton and groundnut continues. District reports indicate standing crops to be promising. The health of cattle is generally good. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has fallen slightly.

Assam.—Moderate to heavy rain fell in all districts facilitating agricultural operations. Transplantation of winter rice, ploughing of land for and sowing and transplantation of paddy, weeding of jute and of sugarcane and harvesting of autumn rice are in progress. Prospects of tea and sugarcane are good and those of jute and paddy have mostly failed. Some damage to tea by insect pests is reported from Sibsagar. The price of common rice is, on the whole, stationary. Cattle disease is reported from six districts.

Bengal.—During the week heavy rain fell over the greater part of the eastern districts but it was light to moderate elsewhere. Preparation of fields for winter rice and transplantations of seedlings are in progress. Weeding of autumn crops is practically over. Harvesting of early autumn rice has commenced in certain districts. Prospects of standing crops excepting those in some of the flooded tracts of eastern Bengal are generally reported to be satisfactory. Insects are reported to have caused some damage to paddy and jute in parts of the 24-Parganas. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. The average price of common rice has risen by about 1·4 per cent as compared with that of the previous week. Gratuitous relief and agricultural loans continue to be given in Noakhali. Test relief works have also been opened in Tipperah and Noakhali.

Bihar and Orissa.—Rain was general over the Province. It was generally light in Orissa and Chota Nagpur and moderate to heavy in Bihar. The recent rainfall has been beneficial to standing crops. Preparation of lands and sowing of autumn crops continue. Weeding of jute is going on. Sugarcane, jute and vegetables are doing well. The average price of common rice has risen as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from sixteen districts. The average daily attendance during the past week on the test work in the Basudeopur thana of Balasore was 30. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is, on the whole, good.

United Provinces.—Sufficient rain for autumn crop operations has fallen everywhere except in Muttra and two other districts. Sugarcane is flourishing though some damage by insects is reported from Muzaffarnagar. Sowings of autumn crops are in full swing. Prospects are favourable. Agricultural stock is in good condition though cattle disease still exists in a few villages. Fodder and water are ample. Markets are full. Many districts report slight rise in prices.

Punjab.—Light to moderate rain fell in nearly all the reporting districts. It was beneficial for standing crops. More rain is badly wanted for autumn sowings. Extra spring crops are being reaped in some districts with yield average to good. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are generally normal. The condition of standing extra spring and autumn crops are average to good. Cattle are healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation are generally sufficient. Prices are stationary or are fluctuating and in the case of spring food grains they range between normal and warning rates and in other cases between warning and scarcity rates or above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat :—Rawalpindi 10, Ambala and Ferozepore 10¼, Lahore 10½ and Lyallpur 11 seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Rain fell throughout the Province. The weather is cloudy and comparatively cool in Peshawar but it is clear and hot in Bannu. The condition of crops is fairly good in Peshawar, good to average in Bannu and average in Dera Ismail Khan. Maize and chari have been sown in some places in Peshawar. Hail fell in two villages of the Marwat tahsil but no damage is reported. Harvesting of extra spring crops is proceeding in Bannu with outturn good. The condition of cattle is fair in Peshawar and good in Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan. The Paharpur canal is running. Fodder and water are sufficient in Peshawar but drinking water is diminishing in certain villages of Dera Ismail Khan and in the Thal tract of Bannu. Prices of wheat are high but stationary throughout the Province and those of gram have fallen slightly in Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan. Prices of other food grains are tending to rise in Bannu but are stationary elsewhere.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8¼ to 13 and maize from 8½ to 18 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. Cattle disease prevails in the Jammu, Ramnagar and Basohli tahsils. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall during the week was insufficient. Crops are suffering. The rice produce is promising. Spring harvest is poor. Cattle disease is reported in the Anantnag tahsil. Fodder is insufficient in Baramula. Prices are rising. Water is sufficient.

Rajputana.—Rain fell in South Rajputana varying from 282 cents in Sirohi to 35 cents in the Hilly Tracts. A few places in East Rajputana also received some rain. Practically no rain fell elsewhere. The weather is generally hot and cloudy. Land is being prepared for autumn sowings. The condition of cattle is generally good. Water is sufficient. Prices are, on the whole, steady.

Central India.—The weather is cloudy and cool. The rainfall during the week was general. The principal falls were over 1 inch in Indore and in the Garot town of the Indore State, over 4 inches in Mehidpur, over 8 inches in the Kannod pargana of the Indore State, over 3 inches in Bundelkhand and over 1 inch in the Dewas, Rutlam and Bagli States of the Malwa Agency. (b) So much of the 6th section of the said Act as requires the expiration of fifteen days before issue of warrant shall be excepted.

(c) The Political Resident shall not be bound to return a fugitive offender to a British Possession unless satisfied that the proceedings to obtain his return are taken with the consent of the Governor of that Possession.

13. Where, by virtue of any Imperial Act, or of this Order, or otherwise, any provisions of any Imperial Acts, or of any Law in force in India, or of any Orders in Council other than this Order, are applicable within the limits of this Order, or any forms, regulations, or procedure prescribed or established by or under such Act, Law, or Order are made applicable for any purpose of this Order, or any other Order relating to Maskat, such Acts, Laws, Orders, forms, regulations, or procedure may be construed or used with such alterations and adaptations not affecting the substance as may be necessary having regard to local circumstances, and any thing required to be done by, to, or before any Court, Judge, Officer, or Authority may be done by, to, or before a Court, Judge, Officer, or Authority having the like or analogous functions, or by, to, or before any Officer designated by the Secretary of State or by the Court (as the case may require) for that purpose; and in case any difficulty occurs in the application the Secretary of State, or with his previous or subsequent assent the Governor-General of India in Council, may direct by, to, or before whom and in what manner anything is to be done, and such Act, Law, Order, Form, Regulation, or procedure shall be construed accordingly.

Where, under any such Imperial Act, Law, or Order, any publication is required to be made, as respects any judicial proceeding in any "Gazette" or otherwise, such publication shall be made by such mode as the Court shall think fit to direct.

PART III.—CRIMINAL.

14.—(1) Subject to the other provisions of this Order, the Code of Criminal Procedure and the other enactments relating to the administration of criminal justice in British India for the time being shall be applicable to Maskat. The Political Resident in the Persian Gulf shall hold and form a Court, to be called the Chief Court, which shall have all the powers of a High Court of Judicature; the Political Agent at Maskat shall be deemed to be the District Magistrate and Sessions Judge; the Judicial Assistant to the Political Resident shall be deemed to be the additional District Magistrate and additional Sessions Judge; and the powers of the Governor-General in Council and of the local Government under those enactments shall be exercisable by the Secretary of State, or, with his previous or subsequent assent, by the Governor-General of India in Council.

Notwithstanding, in any case triable by a subordinate Magistrate under Chapters XVI to XXIII, inclusive of the Indian Penal Code, if both the complainant and defendant are Mohammedans and are acquiescent in such procedure, the Political Agent may order the case to be tried by a Qazi, a representative from the Agency attending to record briefly the proceedings. In such suits the judgment passed by the Qazi cannot be carried into effect until it is ratified by the Political Agent, and the Political Agent is empowered to revise the finding and sentence as if the Qazi were a subordinate Magistrate, or to return the case for retrial to the same or another Qazi. The sentence of the Qazi, when ratified by the Political Agent, shall for all purposes be regarded as if it were the decision of the Political Agent in the District Court.

2. Any jurisdiction exercisable by the Chief Court in criminal matters under this Order may be exercised by the Judge of that Court either within the limits of this Order or elsewhere.

15. In cases in which the Code of Criminal Procedure requires the sentence of a Court of Session to be confirmed by the High Court, the sentence shall be referred for confirmation to the Governor-General of India in Council instead of to the Chief Court.

16. Where a person subject to this Order is accused of the commission of an offence the cognisance whereof appertains to the Court, and it is expedient that the offence be enquired of, tried, determined, and punished in a British possession, the accused may (under the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890, section 6) be sent for trial to Bombay.

The Chief Court may, where it appears so expedient, by warrant under the hand and seal of the Political Resident, cause the accused to be sent for trial to Bombay accordingly.

The warrant shall be sufficient authority to any person to whom it is directed to receive and detain the person therein named, and to carry him to and deliver him up at Bombay, according to the warrant.

Where any person is to be sent to Bombay, the Court before which he is charged shall take the preliminary examination, and shall bind over such of the proper witnesses as are British subjects in their own recognisances to appear and give evidence on the trial.

17.—(1) The Political Resident may by General Order prescribe the manner in which, and the places at which, sentences of imprisonment are to be carried into execution within the limits of the Order.

(2) The Court may in any case by warrant, sealed with its seal, cause an offender convicted and sentenced to imprisonment before the Court to be removed to, and imprisoned in, any place that shall be prescribed by the Political Resident under the authority provided for in sub-section (1) of this article.

18. Where an offender convicted before any Court under this Order is sentenced to imprisonment, and the Political Resident proceeding under section 7 of the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890, authority in that behalf being hereby given to him, considers it expedient that the sentence should be carried into effect elsewhere than within the limits of this Order, and the offender is accordingly sent for imprisonment to a place outside the limits of this Order, the place shall be either a place in the Presidency of Bombay, or a place in some other part of His Majesty's Dominions, the Government whereof consents that offenders may be sent thither under this article, or a place in which by Treaty, grant, usage, sufferance, or other lawful means His Majesty has jurisdiction, provided that if a person is not a British subject he shall only be sent under this article to a place in His Majesty's Dominions.

19.—(1) In cases of murder or culpable homicide, if either the death or the criminal act which wholly or partly caused the death happend in Maskat, a Court acting under this Order shall have the like Jurisdiction over any person to whom this Order applies who is charged either as a principal offender or as an abettor as if both such criminal act and the death had happened in Maskat.

(2) In the case of any offence committed on the high seas or within the Admiralty jurisdiction by any person who at the time of committing such offence was on board a British ship, or by any British subject on board a foreign ship to which he did not belong, the Court shall, subject to the provisions of this Order, have jurisdiction over such person as if the offence had been committed within its jurisdiction.

(3) In cases tried under this article no different sentence can be passed from the sentence which could be passed in England if the crime were tried there.

(4) The foregoing provisions of this article shall be deemed to be adaptations, for the purposes of this Order and of the Foreign Jurisdiction Act, 1890, of the following enactments, namely :—

The Admiralty Offences (Colonial) Act, 1849;

The Admiralty Offences (Colonial) Act, 1860;

The Merchant Shipping Act, 1894, Part XIII;

and those enactments shall apply accordingly, and be administered in Maskat.

20. Where a person is convicted of an offence, the Court before which he is convicted may, if it thinks fit at any time before he is discharged, require him to give security to the satisfaction of the Court for his future good behaviour, and for that purpose may, if it thinks fit, cause him to come or be brought before the Court.

21.—(1) Where it is shown by evidence on oath, to the satisfaction of the District Court, that any British subject has committed, or is about to commit, an offence against this Order, or is otherwise conducting himself so as to be dangerous to peace and good order, or is endeavouring to excite enmity between the people of Maskat and His Majesty, or is intriguing within the limits of this Order against His Majesty's power and authority, the Court may, if it thinks fit, by order under its seal, prohibit that person from being within the limits of this Order, during any time therein specified, not exceeding two years.

(2) The Court, by order in writing under its seal, may vary any order of prohibition (not extending the duration thereof), and may revoke any order of prohibition or removal.

(3) The Court shall forthwith report the order and the grounds thereof to the Chief Court, which shall forthwith report to the Governor-General of India in Council every order made under this article, and the grounds thereof, and the proceedings thereunder.

22.—(1) If any British subject fails to give security for good behaviour or for keeping the peace when lawfully required to do so, or fails to comply with an order of prohibition made under this Order, the Chief Court or the District Court may, if it thinks fit, order that he be deported from any place within its jurisdiction as prescribed by this Order.

(2) If the order of deportation is made by the District Court, it shall forthwith report to the Chief Court the order and the grounds thereof.

(3) Thereupon the person ordered to be deported shall, unless the Chief Court thinks fit otherwise to direct, be as soon as practicable, and in the case of a person convicted either after execution of the sentence or while it is in course of execution, removed in custody under warrant to the place named in the warrant.

(4) The place shall be a place in that part of His Majesty's Dominions, or in the British Protectorate, to which the person belongs, or the Government of which consents to the reception of persons deported under this Order.

(5) The Court, on making an order of deportation, may, if it thinks fit, order the person to be deported to pay all or any part of the expenses of his deportation, to be fixed by the Court in the order. Subject thereto, the expenses of deportation shall be defrayed as the Secretary of State, with the concurrence of the Treasury, or, with the previous or subsequent assent of the Secretary of State, the Governor-General of India in Council directs.

(6) The Chief Court shall forthwith report to the Governor-General of India in Council every order of deportation made under this Order, and the grounds thereof, and the proceedings thereunder.

(7) If a person deported under this Order returns to Maskat without permission in writing of the Chief Court, or the Governor-General of India in Council, or the Secretary of State (which permission the Chief Court, or the Governor-General of India in Council, or the Secretary of State respectively may give), he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months, or with a fine which may extend to 1,000 rupees, or with both.

(8) He shall also be liable to be forthwith again deported under the original or a new order, and a fresh warrant.

23. An appeal shall not lie against an order of prohibition, of removal, or deportation made under this Order.

24.—(1) Where under this Order a person is to be sent or removed or deported from any place within the jurisdiction of the Court as prescribed by this Order he shall, by warrant of the Court sealed with its seal, be detained, if necessary in custody, or in prison, until a fit opportunity for his removal or deportation occurs, and then be put on board a vessel belonging to, or in the service of, His Majesty, or, if no such vessel is available, then on board some other British or other fit vessel.

(2) The warrant shall be sufficient authority to the person to whom it is directed or delivered for execution, and to the Commanding Officer or Master of the vessel, to receive and detain the person therein named, in the manner therein prescribed, and to send or remove and carry him to the place therein named, according to the warrant.

(3) In case of sending or removal for any purpose other than deportation, the warrant shall be issued in duplicate, and the person executing it shall, as soon as practicable after his arrival at the place therein named, deliver, according to the warrant, with one of the duplicates of the warrant, to a constable, or proper officer of police, or keeper of a prison, or other proper authority or person there, the person named in the warrant, to be produced on the order of the proper Court or authority there, or to be otherwise dealt with according to law.

(4) Does any act in relation to the Court or a Judge thereof, or a matter pending therein, which, if done in relation to a Superior Court in England or in India, would be punishable as a contempt of such Court, or as a libel on such Court or the Judges thereof, or the administration of justice therein; such person shall be liable to be apprehended by order of the Court with or without warrant and, on inquiry and consideration, and after the hearing of any defence which such person may offer, without further process or trial, to be punished with a fine not exceeding 100 rupees, or with imprisonment not exceeding twenty-four hours.

A Minute shall be made and kept of every such case of punishment, recording the facts of the offence and the extent of the punishment.

Provided that, if the Court thinks fit, instead of proceeding under the preceding provisions it may direct or cause the offender to be tried in a separate criminal prosecution or proceeding, in which the offender shall be liable to any punishment to which he would be liable if the offence were committed in relation to the Court of a Sessions Judge in India.

Nothing herein shall interfere with the power of the Court to remove or exclude persons who interrupt or obstruct the proceedings of the Court.

26. If any person to whom this Order applies smuggles or imports into or exports from Maskat any goods whereon any duty is charged by or payable to the Sultan, with intent to evade payment of the duty, he shall be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months, or with a fine which may extend to 1,000 rupees, or a sum equal to treble the value of the goods (whichever shall be the greater), or with both imprisonment and fine.

(iii) Publicly and wilfully commits any act tending to bring any religion established or observed within those limits, or its ceremonies, modes of worship, or observances into hatred, ridicule, or contempt, and thereby to provoke a breach of the public peace;

he shall be guilty of an offence, and on conviction thereof liable to imprisonment, which may extend to two years, with or without a fine not exceeding 500 rupees, or to a fine alone not exceeding 500 rupees.

(2) The Political Agent shall take such precautionary measures as seem to him proper and expedient for the prevention of such offences.

30. Any person being within the limits of this Order may be proceeded against, tried, and punished under this Order for piracy wherever committed.

31. If any person subject to this Order violates, or fails to observe within the limits of this Order, any stipulation of any Treaty between His Majesty, his predecessors, heirs, or successors, and the Sultan, for the time being in force, and applicable to such person, in respect of the violation whereof any penalty is stipulated for in the Treaty, he shall be deemed guilty of an offence, and on conviction thereof under this Order shall be liable to a penalty in accordance with the stipulations of the Treaty or the provisions of this Order.

32. The Foreign Jurisdiction Neutrality Order in Council, 1904, shall apply to all persons and to all property subject to this Order.

34. The Court against whose judgment or order the appeal is preferred may postpone the execution of the sentence pending the appeal, and shall, if necessary, commit the person convicted to prison for safe custody, or detain him in prison for safe custody, or shall admit him to bail, and may take security, by recognisance, deposit of money, or otherwise, for his payment of any fine.

PART IV.—CIVIL MATTERS.

35.—(1) Subject to the other provisions of this Order, the Code of Civil Procedure and the other Indian enactments relating to the administration of civil justice and to insolvency and bankruptcy, shall have effect as if Maskat were a district in the Presidency of Bombay. The Political Agent shall be deemed to be the District Judge, and his Court shall be deemed to be the District or Principal Civil Court of Original Jurisdiction in the district; the Judicial Assistant to the Political Resident shall be deemed to be an additional District Judge, and his Court shall be an additional District Court of Original Civil Jurisdiction; the Court of the Political Resident shall be deemed to be the highest Civil Court of Appeal for the district, and the Court authorized to hear appeals from the decisions of the District Court; and the powers, both of the Governor-General in Council and the Local Government under those enactments, shall be exercisable by the Secretary of State, or, with his previous or subsequent assent, by the Governor-General of India in Council.

(2) Any jurisdiction exercisable by the Chief Court under this Order in civil matters may be exercised by the Judge of that Court, either within the limits of this Order or elsewhere.

36. When a suit between persons to whom this Order applies is filed in the Political Agency, the Political Agent shall enquire from the several parties whether they desire that proceedings shall be instituted in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure and the Indian enactments made applicable to Maskat, or in accordance with local usage, and shall record their replies.

37. When any of the several parties desire that the suit shall be determined in accordance with the Code of Civil Procedure and other enactments made applicable to Maskat, the District Court shall forthwith proceed to decide the suit in accordance with the provisions of such enactments, as far as local conditions permit.

Nothing in this section shall prevent the District Court from referring any matter in the progress of a suit which involves a point of Mohammedan law to a Qazi for decision, or from sending any party or witness, being a Mohammedan, to a Qazi for the administration of an oath; or from referring any matter in the progress of a suit between parties belonging to the same community which, in the discretion of the Court, is a fit and proper subject for the decision of the local leaders of that community, to a punch or jama'at of the leaders of such community; or, in commercial cases, from referring any matter in the progress of a suit which, in the discretion of the Court, is a fit and proper subject for the decision of the principal local merchants to a punch or jama'at of such merchants.

38.—(1) The Foreign Jurisdiction (Admiralty) Order in Council, 1910, shall apply to Maskat, and the Chief Court shall have the jurisdiction conferred by Article 4 of that Order and the District Court shall be deemed to be a Provincial Court, and the Registry thereof a District Registry within the meaning of the said Order.

(2) Admiralty actions commenced in the said Registry shall be tried in the District Court, unless the Chief Court is at the time sitting within the limits of this Order, or unless all parties agree that the action shall be tried in the Chief Court sitting elsewhere than within the limits of this Order.

(3) The duties of the Registrar and of the Marshal, either of the Chief Court or of the District Court, under the said Order shall be performed by such Officers as the Political Resident shall direct.

39.—(1) The District Court shall endeavour to obtain, as early as may be, notice of the deaths of all British subjects leaving property in any place within the jurisdiction of the Court as prescribed by this Order, and all such information as may serve to guide the Court with respect to the securing and administration of their property.

(2) On receiving notice of the death of such a person the Court shall put up a notice thereof at the Courthouse, and shall keep the same there until probate or administration is granted, or, where it appears to the Court that probate or administration will not be applied for or cannot be granted, for such time as it thinks fit.

(3) The Court shall, where the circumstances of the case appear so to require, as soon as may be, take possession of the property left by the deceased in any place within the jurisdiction of the Court as prescribed by this Order, or put it under its seal (in either case, if the nature of the property or other circumstances so require, making an inventory), and so keep it until it can be dealt with according to law; perishable articles being disposed of as the Court may consider best in the interests of the State.

(4) All expenses incurred on behalf of the Court in so doing shall be the first charge on the property of the deceased, and the Court shall, by sale of part of that property, or otherwise, provide for the discharge of these expenses.

5. When a British subject dies within the jurisdiction of the Court, as prescribed by this Order, intestate, his property, or so much thereof as is within those limits, shall, until administration is granted, vest in the Political Agent.

40. If a person to whom this Order applies, who is named executor in a will, and to the establishment of whose title as such it is necessary to obtain probate of that will, takes possession of and administers, or otherwise deals with, any part of the property of the deceased, and does not obtain probate within one month after the death, or after the termination of any proceeding respecting probate or administration, he shall be liable to pay double the amount of any fees chargeable on obtaining probate, and he shall also be liable to a fine which may extend to 1,000 rupees.

41. If any person to whom this Order applies, other than the person named executor, or the administrator, or a person entitled to represent the deceased without obtaining probate or letters of administration, or an Officer of the Court, takes possession of and administers, or otherwise deals with, any part of the property of the deceased, he shall, as soon as practicable, notify the fact and the circumstances to the District Court, and shall furnish to the Court all such information as the Court requires, and shall conform to any direction of the Court in relation to the custody, disposal, or transmission of the property or the proceeds thereof, and, in case of any contravention of this Article, he shall be punished with a fine, which may extend to 1,000 rupees.

42.—(1) When the peculiar circumstances of the case appear to the District Court so to require, for reasons recorded in its proceedings, the Court may, if it thinks fit, of its own motion or otherwise, grant letters of administration to an Officer of the Court.

(2) The Officer so appointed shall act under the direction of the Court, and shall be indemnified thereby.

(3) He shall publish such notices, if any, as the Court thinks fit, in Maskat, the Persian Coast and Islands, Bombay, the United Kingdom, and elsewhere.

(4) The Court shall require and compel him to file in the proper Office of the Court, his accounts of his administration at intervals not exceeding three months, and shall forthwith examine them and report thereon to the Chief Court.

(5) The accounts shall be audited under the direction of the District Court.

(6) All expenses incurred on behalf of the Court in execution of this article shall be the first charge on the estate of the deceased as dealt with in accordance with the provisions of this Order; and the Court shall, by the sale of that estate or orthorwise, provide for the discharge of those expenses.

43. In cases where parties are Mohammedans the District Court may refer any question concerning probate of wills or administration of property of deceased persons to whom this Order applied to a Qazi for settlement under the general supervision of the Court.

PART V.—MASKAT AND FOREIGN SUBJECTS AND TRIBUNALS.

(a) Criminal.

44.—(1) When any person not subject to this Order desires to institute a complaint against a person to whom the said Order applies, the Political Agent shall entertain the same, and shall (a) himself hear and determine it in his District Court, or (b) if both parties are Mohammedans, refer it, with their consent to a Qazi for decision, sending a representative of the Agency to record briefly the proceedings. Such decision, when endorsed by the Political Agent, shall for all purposes, be considered as if it were that of the District Court.

(2) Provided that the Maskat subject or person not subject to this Order, if so required by the Court, first obtains and files in the proper Office of the Court the consent, in writing, of the competent authority (if any) on behalf of his own nation to his submitting, and that he does submit by writing, to the jurisdiction of the Court, and, if required by the Court, gives security to the satisfaction of the Court, and to such reasonable amount as the Court thinks fit, by deposit or otherwise, to pay fees, costs, and damages, and abide by and perform the decision to be given by the Court or on appeal.

(3) A cross suit shall not be brought in the Court against the plaintiff, being a person not subject to this Order.

(4) When a person to whom this Order applies desires to institute a complaint against a person not subject to the said Order, who is a subject either of the Sultan or of some other non-Christian Power not represented by a Consular Official in Maskat, the Political Agent shall entertain the same, and, after satisfying himself that primá facie grounds for complaint exist, shall cause the matter to be brought before and decided by the highest authority of the Sultan, or some person specially delegated by him for the purpose. The proceedings and final decision in a case shall not, however, be considered legal unless notice has been given and an opportunity afforded for the Political Agent or Officer appointed by him for the purpose to attend at the hearing and final decision.

(b) Civil.

45.—(1) When any person not subject to this Order desires to bring a suit against a person to whom the said Order applies, the Political Agent shall admit the complaint, and may (a) hear and determine the suit in his District Court, or (b) with the consent of the several parties, may refer the case to one or more arbitrators for settlement.

(2) Provided that the Maskat subject or person not subject to this Order, if required by the Court, first obtains and files in the proper Office of the Court the consent, in writing, of the competent authority (if any), on behalf of his own nation, to his submitting, and that he does submit, by writing, to the jurisdiction of the Court, and, if required by the Court, gives security to the satisfaction of the Court, and to such reasonable amount as the Court thinks fit, by deposit or otherwise, to pay fees, costs, and damages, and abide by and perform the decision to be given by the Court or on appeal.

(3) A cross suit shall not be brought in the Court against a plaintiff, being a person not subject to this Order.

(4) When a person to whom this Order applies desires to institute a suit against a person not subject to the said Order, who is a subject either of the Sultan or of some other non-Christian Power not represented by British Officials in Maskat, the Political Agent shall admit the same, and after satisfying himself that primá facie grounds for bringing a suit exist, shall cause the matter to be brought before and decided by the highest authority of the Sultan, or some person specially delegated by him for the purpose. The proceedings and final decision in a case shall not, however, be considered legal unless notice has been given and an opportunity afforded for the Political Agent, or Officer appointed by him for the purpose, to attend at the hearing and final decision.

(5) The award of the Arbitrator under sub-article 1 (b) shall be final, and shall not be open to appeal unless the same shall within a reasonable time have been ordered by the Political Agent to be set aside on the ground that it is not final, or is defective, or that the Arbitrator has exceeded his authority, or has been guilty of misconduct in the matter.

(6) Nothing herein mentioned shall prevent the District Court from referring any matter in the progress of a suit which involves a point of Mohammedan law to a Qazi for decision, or from sending any party or witness, being a Mohammedan, to a Qazi for the administration of an oath.

46.—(1) Where a person to whom this Order does not apply obtains, in a Court established under this Order, a decree or order against a defendant being a British subject, and in another suit that defendant is plaintiff and the person to whom this Order does not apply is defendant, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the British subject, stay the enforcement of the decree or order pending that other suit, and may set off any amount decreed or ordered to be paid by one party in one suit against any amount decreed or ordered to be paid by the other party in the other suit.

(2) Where a plaintiff, being a person to whom this Order does not apply, obtains a decree or order, in a Court established under this Order, against two or more defendants being British subjects, jointly, and in another suit one of them is a plaintiff and the Maskat subject is defendant, the Court may, if it thinks fit, on the application of the British subjects, stay the enforcement of the decree or order pending that other suit, and may set off any amount decreed or ordered to be paid by one party in one suit against any amount decreed or ordered to be paid by the other party in the other suit, without prejudice to the right of the British subject to obtain contribution from his co-defendants under the joint liability.

(3) Where in a suit a person to whom this Order does not apply is co-plaintiff with a British subject, who is in Maskat, it shall not be necessary for the Maskat subject to give security under this Article as regards fees and costs, unless the Court so directs, but the co-plaintiff British subject shall be responsible for all fees and costs.

47.—(1) Every agreement for reference to arbitration between a person to whom this Order applies on the one hand, and a person not subject to the said Order on the other hand, may, on the application of any party, be filed for execution in the Office of the Court.

(2) The Court shall thereupon have authority to enforce the agreement, and the award made thereunder, and to control and regulate the proceedings before and after the award in such manner and on such terms as the Court may think fit, in concert with the Sultan or his representative.

(c) General.

48.—(1) Where it is proved that the attendance of a person, to whom this Order applies, to give evidence, or for any other purpose connected with the administration of justice, is required before a Maskat Tribunal, a Court established under this Order may, if it thinks fit, in a case and in circumstances in which the Court would require the attendance of that person before the Court, order that he do attend as required.

(2) If the person ordered to attend, having reasonable notice of the time and place at which he is required to attend, fails to attend accordingly, and does not excuse his failure to the satisfaction of the Court, he shall, independently of any other liability, be liable to be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months, or with a fine which may extend to 1,000 rupees, or with both.

49. When a person to whom this order applies invokes or submits to the jurisdiction of a Maskat Tribunal, and engages in writing to abide by the decision of that Tribunal, or to pay any fees or expenses ordered by that Tribunal to be paid by him, the Court may, on such evidence as it thinks fit to require enforce payment of such fees and expenses in the same manner as if they were fees payable in a proceeding in the Court, and shall pay over and account for the same, when levied, to the proper Maskat authority, as the Court may direct.

50.—(1) If a person to whom this Order applies wilfully gives false evidence in a proceeding before a Maskat Tribunal, or in an arbitration between a person to whom this Order applies, on the one hand, and a person to whom this Order does not apply, on the other hand, he shall be guilty of an offence, and shall, on conviction, be liable to be punished with imprisonment for a term which may extend to two months, or with a fine which may extend to 1,000 rupees, or with both.

(2) A British subject arriving in Maskat must apply for registration within one month after arrival in Maskat:

54.—(1) The Political Agent shall, on the first registration of any person, issue to him a certificate of registration signed and sealed.

(2) On the renewal of a registration the old certificate of registration shall be produced, or its absence accounted for to the satisfaction of the Political Agent.

(3) The renewal of a registration shall, unless the Political Agent thinks fit to issue new certificate, be effected by an endorsement on the old certificate.

(4) Where a new certificate is issued, the Political Agent may require the old certificate to be delivered up to him.

(5) The names and descriptions of females and minors whose registration is, under the provisions of this Order, comprised in that of the head of the family, may be endorsed on the certificate of the head of the family.

55. Every person, who has not previously been registered, applying to be registered under this Order shall, unless excused by the Political Agent, attend personally for that purpose at the Political Agency; but no person applying for the renewal of his registration need attend personally unless directed by the Political Agent so to do.

56.—(1) Every person shall, on every registration of himself and on every renewal of the registration, pay a fee of 1 rupee, or such other fee as the Secretary of State from time to time appoints. The amount of the fee may be uniform for all persons, or may vary according to the position and circumstances of different classes, if the Secretary of State from time to time so directs, but may not in any case exceed 2 rupees.

(2) Where any person applies to be registered, he shall be entitled to the assistance of the Political Agent in the preparation of any affidavit that may be required for the purposes of such registration without a fee.

57. If any British subject neglects to obtain registration under the provisions of this Order, he shall not be entitled to be recognised or protected as a British subject in Maskat, and shall be liable to a fine not exceeding 25 rupees for each instance of such failure; but he shall, although not registered, be subject to the jurisdiction of the Courts established by this Order.

58.—(1) A person not of Asiatic or African descent arriving in Maskat and applying to be registered as a British subject shall be so registered if the Political Agent is satisfied, after such enquiry as he may deem fit, that he is entitled to the status of a British subject.

In the case of a person of Maskat origin his registration shall be subject to the proviso that the Sultan has no reasonable grounds to claim him as a Maskat subject while in Oman territory, or consents in writing to his being registered as a British subject.

59.—(a) A person born in Maskat, being the child of a British subject, may be registered as a British subject if it is proved that the father (1) was registered as a British subject, or (2) being entitled, was prevented from being so registered by causes for which he was not responsible.

(b) The Political Agent may, without fee, register any British subjects, being minors, living in the houses of foreigners or Maskat subjects.

60.—(a) British subjects and British-protected persons are prohibited from alienating to or acquiring from any person of whatever nationality any land or household property within the dominions of the Sultan, either by gift, purchase, mortgage, or other form of conveyance, without due execution of signature and registration previous to the transfer of such property by the Political Agent.

Any British subject charged with any breach of this paragraph shall be liable to, and on conviction punishable under this Order by, a fine up to 500 rupees, or to the total value of the property purporting to be so transferred, or imprisonment up to one calendar month or both.

(b) Any such deed, or instrument of gift, purchase, mortgage, or other form of conveyance, purporting to transfer property otherwise than in accordance with the provisions of 60 (a) may, on that ground alone, be declared void and of no effect by any Court acting under this Order.

70.—(1) All fees, charges, expenses, costs, fines, damages, and other money payable under this Order, or under any law made applicable by this Order, may be enforced under order of the Court by seizure and sale of goods, and, in default of sufficient goods, by imprisonment as a civil prisoner for a term not exceeding one month, but such imprisonment shall not operate as a satisfaction or extinguishment of the liability.

(2) Any bill of sale or mortgage, or transfer of property, made with a view of avoiding such seizure or sale, shall not be effectual to defeat the provisions of this Order.

(3) All fees, penalties, fines, and forfeitures levied under this Order upon a British subject, and fees, other than actual Court fees, that may be levied under the provisions of this Order, on a person to whom this Order applies, shall be paid to the public account, and shall be applied in such manner as the Secretary of State, with the consent of the Treasury, or, with the previous or subsequent assent of the Secretary of State, as the Governor-General of India in Council, may direct.

71. Whenever an Acting Political Agent or Acting Judicial Assistant has commenced the hearing of any cause or matter, civil or criminal, he may, unless the Political Resident otherwise directs, continue and complete the hearing and determination thereof, notwithstanding that his authority to act as Political Agent or Judicial Assistant has otherwise ceased by reason of the expiration of the time for which he was appointed to act, or by reason of the happening of any event by which his authority is determined.

72.—(1) If an Officer of the Court, employed to execute a decree or order, loses, by neglect or omission, the opportunity of executing it, then, on complaint of the person aggrieved and proof of the fact alleged, the Court may, if it thinks fit, order the Officer to pay the damages sustained by the person complaining, or part thereof.

Provided that no person shall be punished twice for the same offence.

74. The Political Resident or the Political Agent may exercise any power conferred on any Justices of the Peace within His Majesty's Dominions by any Act of Parliament, for the time being in force, regulating merchant seamen or the mercantile marine.

82. Nothing in this Order shall deprive the Political Resident, or an Officer subordinate to him, of the right to observe, and to enforce the observance of, or shall deprive any person of the benefit of, any reasonable custom existing in Maskat, unless this Order contains some express and specific provision incompatible with the observance thereof.

On the 12th a disturbance in the extreme north gave rain to east Baluchistan, Kashmir and the neighbouring hills. At the same time the pressure conditions responsible for the break in the monsoon began to disappear, and under the influence of a low pressure area in the Bay the Arabian Sea current strengthened considerably ; by the end of the week it was giving widespread rain over the Peninsula and the central parts of the country, while the Bay current had penetrated into the Gangetic plain and was giving some moderately heavy rain in the United Provinces.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general in Lower Burma on the 8th and 10th, and in Upper Burma on the 13th.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Nearly general rain fell in Assam on the 8th and 9th, in Bengal on the 11th and in Chota Nagpur on the 12th. Local falls were reported from Orissa and Bihar.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 10th July 1915.

Burma.—The rainfall was general over Lower Burma. It was heavy in Arakan and moderate elsewhere. In Upper Burma the rainfall was light and irregularly distributed. Agricultural operations concerning winter rice continue normally in the rice growing areas. Sowing for upland crops also continues. Standing crops are favourable. Cattle are generally healthy. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has risen considerably, while the rice market is active.

Assam.—The weather is rainy. Heavy floods are reported from Cachar, Sylhet and Kamrup. The greater portion of Silchar is under water. Standing crops in lowlying tracts in Kamrup are affected and in Sylhet they have been damaged by floods. Plucking and manufacture of tea continue. Ploughing of land for and sowing and transplantation of winter rice and harvesting of autumn rice are in progress. Prospects of tea are good, of sugarcane fair and of jute and rice fair to poor. Some damage to tea and rice seedlings by insect pests and to paddy by locusts is reported from Sibsagar and from the Khasi and Jaintia Hills respectively. The price of common rice is almost stationary except in Sylhet where it has risen considerably. Fodder is scarce in Sylhet. Cattle disease is reported from seven districts.

Bengal.—During the week heavy rain fell over the greater part of northern and eastern districts but it was light elsewhere. Preparation of fields for winter rice and transplantation of seedlings continue but more rain is needed for these operations in parts of the Presidency and Burdwan divisions. Weeding of autumn crops is still going on in some western districts and harvesting of early autumn rice is in progress except in some of the low lands in the eastern and northern districts. The prospects of all the standing crops are reported to be generally fair. Cattle disease is reported from eight districts. The average price of common rice for the Province has slightly risen as compared with that of the previous week. Gratuitous relief and agricultural loans continue to be given in Noakhali. Test relief works have also been opened in Tippera and Noakhali.

Bihar and Orissa.—The rainfall during the week was general over the Province. It was light in Orissa and Chota Nagpur and light to moderate in Bihar. Sowing of autumn crops continues. Weeding of jute is going on. Transplantation of paddy has commenced in some districts. More rain is wanted in parts of Orissa and Chota Nagpur for agricultural operations. The standing crops are doing well. The average price of common rice has remained almost stationary as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. Distress in the Basudebpur thana of Balasore continues and another test work has been opened in the Soro thana of the same district. The average daily attendance at the test works was 18 in Basudebpur and 8 in Soro. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good. More rain is wanted in some States.

United Provinces—The rainfall has been fairly general but more rain is urgently needed in many districts specially in the west of the Province. The condition of standing crops and of agricultural population and stock is good. Some villages still report cattle disease. Food, fodder and water are ample everywhere. Locusts have done slight damage to indigo, cotton and maize in some districts. Markets are full. Prices are inclined to rise.

Punjab.—Light showers fell in the south-east and in parts of the submontane tracts but in Ambala the rainfall was moderate. Elsewhere the weather was generally dry. Rain is badly wanted almost everywhere. Extra spring crops are being reaped with yield average to good. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are generally normal. The condition of irrigated standing crops is average to good but unirrigated crops are suffering from drought. Cattle are healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation are generally sufficient. Prices are stationary or are rising slightly and in the case of spring food grains range between normal and warning rates and in other cases between warning and scarcity rates. Prices of wheat:— Rawalpindi 9½, Ferozepore and Lahore 10, and Ambala and Lyallpur 10¼ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell in Peshawar where the weather is comparatively cool. The week was rainless in Bannu and Dera Ismail Khan where the weather is hot and clear. The condition of standing crops is average in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan and good to average in Bannu. Maize and chari have been sown in some places in Peshawar. Harvesting of extra spring crops is proceeding in Bannu with outturn good on irrigated and average on unirrigated areas. The condition of cattle is good in Peshawar and Bannu and fair in Dera Ismail Khan. Water for irrigation is scarce in the Thal tract of Bannu and the water-supply is diminishing in certain villages of Dera Ismail Khan. Otherwise fodder and water are sufficient everywhere. The Paharpur canal is running. Prices of wheat and gram are tending to rise in Bannu. Elsewhere prices are high but stationary.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8½ to 13 and maize from 8½ to 18 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. Cattle disease prevails in the Ramban tahsil. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was insufficient Crops are suffering for want of rain. Cattle disease is reported in Anantnag. Fodder is insufficient in Baramulla. Prices of food stuffs are rising. Water is sufficient.

Rajputana.—No rain fell during the week except 31 cents in Merwara. The weather is generally hot and clear. Rain is needed everywhere for autumn sowings. Pasturage and fodder are reported to be scarce in Dungarpur, Marwar and the Hilly Tracts and in parts of Kotah. The condition of cattle is fair to good. Water is generally sufficient. There is a sharp rise in prices in Dungarpur, Banswara and Tonk but the rise is less marked in the eastern Rajputana States and in Merwara. Elsewhere the prices are steady.

Central India.—No rain fell in Indore but the rainfall was general in Gwalior and Baghelkhand and partial elsewhere. Rain is insufficient in Gwalior, the Khilchipur State of the Bhopal Agency, and in the Datia, Samthar, Ajaigarh, Baoni, Chhattarpur, Sarila, Bihat and Garrauli States of Bundelkhand and is badly wanted throughout the Southern States. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress in parts of Gwalior and Bhopal, in the Indore and Nimawar districts of the Indore State and Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand and the Southern States. Autumn sowings have been stopped for want of rain in the Nimawar, Mehidpur and Rampura Bhanpura districts of the Indore State, in the Khilchipur State of the Bhopal Agency and in Malwa. The standing autumn crops are withering in Manpur of the Southern States owing to shortage of rain. Agricultural stock is in good condition except in the Khilchipur and Narsinghgarh States of the Bhopal Agency and in parts of Dhar and Alirajpur of Southern States where cattle disease is reported. The fodder supply is sufficient throughout except in the Shajapur, Agar, Susner and Sonkach parganas of the Gwalior State, in the Khilchipur State of the Bhopal Agency where it is bad and in parts of Dhar and Manpur of the Southern States. Prices are fluctuating in all the districts of the Indore State except Nimawar and Rampura Bhanpura and in the Southern States, are normal in Bhopal, are high in Baghelkhand, are rising in Malwa and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather has been hot and cloudy. Light showers of rain not exceeding 1 inch were received in Damoh, Seoni, Nagpur, Bhandara and Bilaspur. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress and germination of the early sown crops is generally satisfactory but more rain is needed now. Agricultural stock is in good condition. The supply of fodder and water is adequate. Variations in prices are insignificant.

Feudatory States:—Light to moderate showers of rain fell in most States. Sowing of autumn crops continues.

Bombay.—Slight rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency Proper. More rain is urgently needed everywhere. Sowing is generally progressing but it has been retarded for want of rain in Ahmedabad, the Panch Mahals, Kaira, Kanara, Khandesh, Bijapur, Rewa Kantha, Palanpur and Savantvadi. Transplantation has been retarded in Karachi, Surat, the Konkan and Savantvadi. Seedlings have been damaged by insects in three talukas of the Upper Sind Frontier and by locusts in three talukas of Larkana, the Upper Sind Frontier and Nawabshah. They are withering in Karachi, Ahmedabad, Kaira and Thana. The fodder supply is sufficient except in two talukas and two mahals of Karachi, two talukas of Larkana and Kaira, three talukas of Hyderabad, five talukas of Thar and Parkar, four talukas of Nawabshah and four States of Rewa Kantha. Cattle are in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in two talukas and one petha of Poona. Drinking water is sufficient. Water for irrigation is deficient in Sind. Prices have slightly fallen in the Deccan, have risen in the Karnatak and are generally steady elsewhere.

Hyderabad.—The rainfall during the week was 1 cent in the Raichur and Nizamabad districts and 3 cents in Warangal and nil elsewhere. Lands for autumn crops are being prepared and sown but sowings have been suspended in parts. Sprouts of autumn crops are withering in parts of Telengana. Lands for early rice are being prepared but sowings have been suspended for want of rain. Water scarcity prevails in one taluka, fodder scarcity in two and cattle disease in two. Prices of grains are almost constant. The highest price in districts is 11 seers per rupee in Aurangabad, Gulbarga and Bidar and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—Slight rain fell during the week in Hassan, Kadur and Chitaldrug but no rain was received elsewhere. The price of rice and ragi has risen slightly in Kadur and Chitaldrug. Markets are well supplied. Paddy, ragi and other crops have been sown in parts. Standing crops are in good condition but rain is needed in greater part of the State. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 55 cents. Ploughing for rice and sowing of seed continue. The price of food grains is high. The public health is fair. Fodder for cattle is sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was heavy in Cochin, good in the Vizagapatam Agency, Madras, South Arcot, North Arcot, Puddukottai, Madura, the west coast, and the Nilgiris, fair in Salem, Trichinopoly, Tanjore and Ramnad and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good generally but they are withering or require rain in parts of eight districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops is proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water-supply is sufficient except in Ganjam and Kurnool and in parts of Godavari, the Deccan, Nellore, South Arcot, the central parts except Trichinopoly and Malabar and the southern districts except Tinnevelly. Pasture is sufficient except in Guntur and the Deccan and in parts of seven other districts. Fodder is generally sufficient. Prices are slightly rising.

Review of the Reports on the Administration of the Mints at Calcutta and Bombay for the year 1914-15.

1.—Working of the Mints.

Receipts of Gold.

The following statement compares the value and nature of the tenders at the two Mints in 1914-15 with those of the last three years :—

Year.	Calcutta.			Bombay.			Total.
	Value of sovereigns and half-sovereigns of current weight.	Value of light weight and uncurrent sovereigns and half-sovereigns.	Total.	Value of sovereigns and half-sovereigns of current weight.	Value of light weight and uncurrent sovereigns and half-sovereigns.	Total.	Total value of the receipts.
1911-12	5,88,46,980	6,26,850	5,94,73,830	24,40,29,250	76,94,460	21,17,23,710	27,11,97,540
1912-13	1,70,49,315	3,48,045	1,73,97,360	21,68,82,600	1,44,72,570	23,13,55,170	24,87,52,530
1913-14	1,95,84,645	4,05,240	1,99,89,885	7,59,59,610	57,29,055	8,16,88,665	10,16,78,550
1914-15	26,43,480	46,920	26,90,400	2,43,37,410	13,35,540	2,56,72,950	2,83,63,350

The above figures exclude (a) Rs. 1,77,742 worth of light weight and uncurrent sovereigns and half-sovereigns received from treasuries and other Government Departments, and (b) 2,762 sovereigns tendered at the Mints as current weight, but subsequently withdrawn by the tenderers as they were found to be reduced, soldered, fraudulently defaced or of foreign mintage.

2. After the outbreak of the war an arrangement was made whereby the Government of India agreed to receive, on behalf of the Bank of England, gold produced by certain Indian Gold Mining Companies, for safe custody at the Bombay Mint. The gold is melted and assayed before deposit, the charges being one anna for melting every ten tolas and Rs. 4 per each assay. The amount deposited to the end of March 1915 was 345,980 standard ounces.

Coinage of Silver.

3. The following statement shews the details of the silver coinage executed for the Government of India in the two mints during 1914-15 :—

	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Total.
	Value in Rupees.	Value in Rupees.	Value in Rupees.
Rupees	1,26,00,000	54,71,853	1,80,71,853
Half-rupees	6,99,946	4,51,664	11,51,610
Quarter-rupees	5,68,469	5,24,113	10,92,582
Eighth-rupees	7,36,450	7,42,841	14,79,291
Total	1,46,04,865	71,90,471	2,17,95,336
Total for 1913-14	6,63,36,058	6,52,32,479	13,15,68,537

4. There was no coinage of rupees from purchased silver during the year. The amount of fractional silver coined was also much less than in the preceding year, owing to the existance of adequate stocks in treasuries and depôts, and to a falling off in the demand for small coin generally.

5. Besides the above, silver coins of denominations and value shown below were struck at the Calcutta Mint for the Ceylon Government :—

	Number of pieces.	Nominal value in Rupees.
50 cent pieces	200,000	1,00,000
25 cent „	400,000	1,00,000
10 cent „	1,000,000	1,00,000
TOTAL . .	1,600,000	3,00,000

There was no dollar coinage in the Bombay Mint during the year under review.

Nickel coinage.

6. Nickel coinage was confined to the Bombay Mint and consisted of 42,352,000 anna pieces of the nominal value of Rs. 26,47,000 against 46,320,000 pieces of the nominal value of Rs. 28,95,000 coined in the previous year.

Bronze and Copper coinage.

7. Bronze coinage, which was, as usual, carried out entirely at the Calcutta Mint, consisted of pice, half-pice, and pies of the aggregate value of Rs. 4,60,700 as compared with Rs. 20,85,439 in the preceding year. There was a large return of single pice from circulation and this accounts for the falling off in the coinage. In addition to the coinage work of the Government of India Rs. 40,000 worth of cents and half cents were coined for the Ceylon Government, and Rs.3,125 worth of Copper amman cashes for the Puddukotai Durbar.

8. A careful investigation was made of the average cost of minting the different denomination of the bronze coinage of the Government of India and as a result thereof it has been decided to adopt the following rates in the pro formá accounts of the Mints :—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Pice . . .	2	11	6	per 1,000 pieces.
Half pice . .	2	3	0	„ „ „
Pie . . .	1	14	6	„ „ „

Operative loss.

9. Silver.—The loss on the silver coined at the Calcutta Mint amounted to 124 and at the Bombay Mint to 104·29 per lakh of standard tolas coined. These figures are considerably above those of the previous year, viz., 90·2 for Calcutta and 95·3 for Bombay. The apparent increase is due to the value of the issues having been taken on the basis of the individual pyx instead of on the melted pyx as was done last year.

10. As Major Willis has indicated it is possible to adopt various methods for the purpose of determining the operative losses. The suggestions which he makes in this connection will be separately considered.

11. Bronze and Copper.—The operative loss on account of the bronze coinage at the Calcutta Mint included a melting loss of 0·45 per 100 maunds melted and a coining loss of 0·037 per 100 maunds of the coins coined, the total loss amounting to 22·857 maunds.

12. Nickel.—The operative loss on nickel coinage amounted to 0·359 per 100 maunds of metal rolled as compared with 0·454 in 1913-14.

Revenue and Expenditure.

13. The statement below gives the usual figures of the revenue and expenditure, including interest on capital outlay and other pro formâ charges, of the two mints for the two years 1913-14 and 1914-15 :—

Year.	Revenue.			Expenditure.
	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Total.	Calcutta.	Bombay.	Total.
1913-14 . .	15,96,991	14,39,621	30,36,612	14,85,219	11,64,695	26,49,914
1914-15 . .	1,81,648	1,74,276	3,55,924	11,16,541	8,29,337	19,45,878

The large decrease in revenue is due to the comparatively small coinage done during the year.

14. The expenditure on salaries and establishments of the two mints compares as follows with that incurred during 1913-14 :—

	Calcutta Mint.			Bombay Mint.			Both Mints.
	1913-14.	1914-15.	Increase + or Decrease — in 1914-15.	1913-14.	1914-15.	Increase + or Decrease — in 1914-15.	1913-14.	1914-15.	Increase + or Decrease — in 1914-15.

Total .	3,71,596	3,24,397	—47,199	3,60,192	3,19,491	—40,701	7,31,788	6,43,888	—87,900

Miscellaneous Work.

15. As usual dies, medals and miniatures were manufactured at the mints for the various public institutions and the trades, etc. The silver and gold required for these medals and decorations are now purchased by the Mint Masters in the market, instead of utilising coinage silver or melting down sovereigns.

A larger number of new weight and scales was also supplied to the treasuries and the public during 1914-15 than in the previous year.

16. The receipts on account of the miscellaneous work done in the two mints and the cost were as follows :—

Year.	Calcutta Mint.			Bombay Mint.			Both Mints.
	Cost of work done.	Amount realised.	Profit.	Cost of work done.	Amount realised.	Profit.	Cost of work done.	Amount realised.	Profit.
1913-14 . .	41,125	58,587	17,462	10,417	11,025	608	51,542	69,612	18,070
1914-15 . .	46,127	56,942	10,815	11,884	18,477	6,593	58,011	75,419	17,408

The Bombay figures include a sum of Rs. 5,554 on account of melting fees on Indian Mines gold deposited at the Bombay Mint.

Counterfeit Coins.

17. Treasuries.—The number of counterfeit silver coins of the several denominations, cut at the Indian treasuries during 1914-15, compares as follows with the figures of the previous year:—

	Rs.	½ Rs.	¼ Rs.	⅛ Rs.	TOTAL.
1913-14 . .	1,19,664	5,344	6,931	4,850	1,36,789
1914-15 . .	1,22,685	5,947	7,883	5,790	1,42,305

18. The following table gives the provincial distribution of the figures for the year 1914-15:—

Province.	Rs.	½ Rs.	¼ Rs.	⅛ Rs.	TOTAL.
India	26,237	1,391	1,555	841	30,024
Madras	16,235	1,094	1,445	1,928	20,702
Bombay	22,184	558	1,114	1,087	24,943
Bengal	11,003	964	852	229	13,048
United Provinces . . .	18,544	703	766	680	20,693
Punjab and North-West Frontier Province	15,301	671	807	407	17,186
Burma	5,276	164	887	505	6,832
Bihar and Orissa . . .	1,426	49	55	30	1,560
Central Provinces . . .	2,538	82	71	50	2,741
Assam	3,941	271	331	33	4,576
TOTAL . . .	122,685	5,947	7,883	5,790	142,305

19. Of the total of 122,685 counterfeit rupees 53,578 were detected in Railway cash offices, the more important figures being 9,684 from the East Indian Railway, 7,984 from the North Western Railway, 6,162 from the Rajputana Malwa Railway, and 4,968 from the Madras and Southern Mahratta Railway.

20. Mints.—Counterfeit silver coins numbering 9,266 pieces were received at the two mints during the year against 11,971 pieces in the preceding year. The details for the two years are given in the statement below:—

	Received in remittances of uncurrent coins from Treasuries.		Received from Treasuries and other officers under standing orders.		Received at the mints for examination.
	1914-15.	1913-14.	1914-15.	1913-14.	1914-15.	1913-14.
Rupees	3,786	4,483	2,124	2,798	1,113	2.668
Half-rupees	112	163	186	98	17	66
Quarter-rupees	462	509	506	150	18	77
One-eighth rupees	680	691	246	205	15	63
TOTAL .	5,041	5,846	3,062	3,251	1,163	2,874

21. It will be seen that there was an appreciable decline in the number of counterfeit silver coins received at the mints as compared with the figures for 1913-14. With the exception of 230 coins received from some of the Railways and 88 from other sources, the counterfeits examined at the Bombay Mint were altogether inferior specimens. One class of counterfeits, brought to light among the coins examined at the Calcutta Mint, deserves special mention as having been struck in a coining press by a person who apparently has an intimate knowledge of minting. Among other coins examined at the mints were 490 anna pieces and 12 sovereigns.

Offences against coinage.

22. The following table compares the number of cases of offences against coinage brought to trial during the calendar year 1914 with the corresponding figures of the previous year. It will be seen that there was a decrease in the number of cases tried in the Punjab, Burma, Central Provinces, Hyderabad, Baroda and Central India Agency and an increase in Bengal, United Provinces, Rajputana Agency and Assam.

	NUMBER OF CASES BROUGHT TO TRIAL.		NUMBER OF PERSONS TRIED.		NUMBER OF PERSONS CONVICTED.

27. None of the coins assayed in the two mints were found to be outside the legal remedy. An improved method of taking coin for the pyxes of the silver coinage was introduced during the year in the Calcutta Mint. The new method not only insures a much more impartial sampling than heretofore but also provides for an easy identification of the bags of coins from which a particular defective sample may have been taken.

H. F. HOWARD,

Controller of Currency.

The 9th July 1915.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE CALCUTTA MINT.

No. 1212, dated Calcutta, 2nd June 1915.

From—Major A. L. C. McCormick, R. E., Master of the Mint, Calcutta,

To—The Controller of Currency, Calcutta.

I have the honour to submit the Annual Report on the operations of the Calcutta Mint for the financial year ending 31st March 1915.

2. Captain H. J. K. Wallis, I.A., was in charge of this Mint during the financial year under report from 1st April to 4th October 1914 on which date he handed over charge to Major Willis, M.V.O., R.E., who continued as Mint Master till 26th February 1915 on which date he relinquished his charge of this Mint to me.

3. General.—It should I think be remarked here that owing to the War which was declared on 4th August 1914 by His Majesty's Government, the relation of expenditure to the output of coinage and other miscellaneous work in this Mint for the year under report has not been fully maintained. Soon after the declaration of War, coinage operations in the Bronze Mint ceased for some months and silver coinage was confined entirely to the recoinage of old coins. It was considered desirable, in consultation with the Controller of Currency, that the operative establishment should not be reduced immediately owing to the difficulty of workmen finding employment elsewhere. The establishment which was at a strength for normal coinage in this Mint was therefore temporarily retained and a large proportion of the establishment was kept employed in cleaning up the Departments and the Mint premises. It may, however, be noted that where workmen took leave or resigned of their own accord their places were not filled by substitutes.

GOLD.

4. The value of Mint certificates issued against tenders of gold coin received through the Presidency Bank and the public amounted to Rs. 26,90,400 and is detailed as follows :—

Classification.	Value in Rupees.
Sovereigns of current weight	26,43,195
Sovereigns of current weight but unfit for re-issue, nominal value	285
Sovereigns of short weight or not more than 3 grains less than standard weight, nominal value	46,920
TOTAL	26,90,400

5. In addition to the current weight sovereigns valued at Rs. 26,46,195 which were as usual remitted to the Currency Office, Calcutta, under telephonic instructions received from the Controller of Currency, the following gold balances were also remitted on 4th August 1914 :—

From Currency Gold Coin Account.

	Rs.	A.
Current weight sovereigns unfit for re-issue	2,820	0
Short weight sovereigns and half sovereigns	6,89,902	8

6. There were also receipts of gold coin and bullion to the value of Rs. 4,355 received from other Government Departments. These receipts are detailed below :—

Classification.	Value in Rupees.
Sovereigns of current weight unfit for re-issue, nominal value	45
Sovereigns and half sovereigns of short weight or not more than 3 grains less than standard weight, nominal value	345
Sovereigns and half sovereings of reduced weight or more than 3 grains less than standard weight, bullion value	472
Gold Bullion	3,493

SILVER.

7. The aggregate receipts of uncurrent silver coins from Treasuries amounted in nominal value to Rs. 1,36,60,655 and were classified as follows :—

Classification.	In thousands of Rupees.
Government Rupees and half rupees of 1835	4,87

8. Under Finance Department letter No. 70-F., dated 9th January 1915, the Mint purchased locally Rs. 1,849 worth of fine silver to replenish the silver balances used for the manufacture of medals, etc.

9. In addition to this, purchases of fine silver amounting to standard tolas 2,62,295 were made on behalf of the Ceylon Government towards the execution of their order for subsidiary silver coins.

10. Coinage.—The total silver coinage executed for the Government of India amounted in nominal value to Rs. 1,46,04,865 and for the Ceylon Government to Rs. 3,00,000. The Government of India coinage for the year under report is considerably less than the previous year as will be seen from the following figures :—

	Tale.	Value.
1913-14	8,91,31,763	6,63,36,058
1914-15	2,21,65,365	1,46,04,865

11. Percentage of good coins.—The percentage of good coins obtained from weight of metal operated on was fully maintained as compared with previous years. The details are shown below:—

Denomination of coin.	Weight of ingots rolled, Lakhs of tolas.	Percentage of good coins.
Rupees	188·0	67·7
½ Rupees	10·8	64·5
¼ Rupees	14·6	65·2
⅛ Rupees	16·0	62·8
50 cents (Ceylon)	1·7	58·9
25 " "	1·7	53·8
10 " "	3·8	47·5

12. Pyx Trials.—The Assay Master's report on the pyx coins sent to him for test shows that the weight and fineness of the silver coinage was maintained within the prescribed limits.

13. Silver Operative Losses.—The following abstract statement of Receipts and Issues for the verification year from 1st March 1914 to 28th February 1915 shows that the coinage operations during this period resulted in an operative loss of 20,228 standard tolas on account of Government coinage and 540 standard tolas on account of Ceylon coinage, giving a rate of 124 per lakh on 163·53 lakhs of standard tolas of good coins coined in the case of the former and 135 per lakh on 4·0 lakhs of standard tolas of good coins coined in the case of the latter :—

Opening balances .	35,87,800	Issues	1,72,12,641
Receipts . . .	1,40,86,927	Closing balances	4,41,318
		Operative losses { B. I. G. coins	20,228
		Operative losses { Ceylon.	540
TOTAL .	1,76,74,727	TOTAL .	1,76,74,727

14. The above rate in the case of Government coinage is higher than the previous year; this is explained by the fact that the value of the good coins has been calculated on the average of the individual pyx reported on by the Assay Master instead of on the melted pyx as done hitherto. If the account had been closed under the usual procedure the rate per lakh would have been 92 instead of 124.

BRONZE AND COPPER.

15. The Mint executed a bronze coinage consisting of single pice, half pice and pie pieces aggregating 451,32,800 pieces valued at Rs. 4,60,700 as compared with 14,96,82,090 pieces valued at Rs. 20,85,439 in the year 1913-14. In addition to this 50,00,000 pieces of Ceylon cents and half cents valued at Rs. 40,000 and 8,00,000 pieces Amman Cash valued at Rs. 3,125 for the Puddokotai Durbar were also coined. The total number of bronze and copper coins coined during the year under report therefore amounts to 5,09,32,800 pieces valued at Rs. 5,03,825 as compared with 15,26,82,090 pieces valued at Rs. 21,15,439 in the previous year. Details of the coinage referred to above will be found in statement II attached to this report.

16. Purchases of copper valued at Rs. 3,20,521 were brought to account during the year. Orders for these purchases were placed in the previous financial year as a safeguard against any possible heavy demand for coins either on account of Government or the Colonies. A small quantity of tin valued at Rs. 26,035 was also purchased to replenish stock.

17. Operative Losses.—The weight of metal written off the accounts as operative losses on bronze coinage was as follows :—

Melting loss mds. 21·5 at ·45 per 100 mds. melted.
Coining loss „ 1·357 „ ·37 „ 100 „ of new coins coined.

18. The operative losses on Ceylon coinage which amounted to mds. 24·5 and on the coinage done for the Puddokotai Durbar which amounted to mds. 1¼ were debited to the respective accounts and the value realised and credited to Government.

MISCELLANEOUS.

19. There has been no diminution of miscellaneous work done for other Government Departments and the public. The Engraving and Weight Adjusting Departments have been kept fully employed; a considerable increase in the supply of new weights and scales to Treasuries and the public has been noticeable in the year under report.

20. In addition to the new medals designed, prepared and struck at this Mint and illustrated on the frontispiece, the Die Department has been kept busy in the issue of medals, other decorations and miniatures to the Trades.

21. Of the medals illustrated in this report, the one of most interest is the plaque (Figure II) designed and executed entirely in this Mint.

22. The illustration shows the size of the miniature of the original plaque which measured 5 inches in length by 3½ inches in width and weighed 55 tolas.

23. The plaque was presented to His Excellency the Viceroy by the Engineer-in-Chief of the Bridge Works, Mr. R. R. Gales, on the occasion of the opening of the " Hardinge " Bridge at Sara and was contained in a glass case the woodwork of which was cut from a block of hornbeam wood taken from an old spur wheel belonging to part of the old Mint steam plant over 40 years old.

24. The design of the obverse of this plaque was drawn from Hindu Mythology and represents the source of the River Ganges issuing from " Gomukhi " in the Himalayas. It also depicts the Goddess " Ganga " sitting on the back of a shark with one foot resting on the lotus. In the middle distance is seen the " Hardinge " Bridge spanning this river.

25. Reference may also be made to the medal (Figure 1) designed by Mr. Abanindra Nath Tagore, C.I.E., for His Excellency the Governor of Bengal. The design was submitted to the Mint in the form of a wax plaque from which the Mint Engraver completed the medal.

PLANT AND MACHINERY.

26. Owing to the electrical recording instruments having been out of order throughout the year, and as it was impossible locally to replace them or verify their errors, it is impracticable to furnish a statement of the cost per unit of electricity generated.

REVENUE AND EXPENDITURE.

27. Charges levied.—The aggregate credit to this head of account amounted to Rs. 1,421, of which Rs. 955 represented Assay fees.

28. Gain on Recoinage.—The amount of Rs. 4,291 shown against this revenue head in statement No. I represents the gain on the standard fineness taken into alligation of uncurrent coins received for recoinage.

29. Cash and Transfer Receipts.—These amounted to Rs. 75,779 as compared with Rs. 68,872 in the previous year. The increase in the year under report is chiefly due to the cash receipts.

30. The increase in the receipts on account of Colonial coinages being due to the charges on coinage executed towards the end of the previous official year having been recovered and brought to account in the year under report.

31. Operative Losses.—This item of expenditure is dealt with in paras. 13 and 14 of this report.

32. Loss on Recoinage.—The loss adjusted to this head of account amounted to Rs. 2,79,206 as compared with Rs. 3,45,103 in the previous year, the decrease being due to the receipts in the year under report, vide para. 7, being less than the previous year by Rs. 72,29,115.

33. Copper used as Alloy.—The value of copper used for alloying silver to the standard of fineness necessary for coinage amounted to Rs. 1,166 as compared with Rs. 48,316. The decrease is due to a reduced silver coinage in the year under report.

34. Salaries and Establishment.—The total payment under this account amounted to Rs. 3,24,397 as compared with Rs. 3,71,597 in the year 1913-14. A further decrease in expenditure in the extra establishment would have been effected but for the reasons set forth in para. 3 of this report.

35. English and Local Stores.—The combined expenditure amounted to Rs. 1,08,469 as compared with Rs. 2,02,965 in the year 1913-14, the decrease being entirely due to reduced coinage operations in the year under report. The usual verification of Europe stores balances was undertaken, but was not completed by the close of the financial year. The results of this verification will therefore be adjusted in the current financial year.

36. Pro formá Receipts and Charges.—The receipts amounted to Rs. 1,00,000 and represents a credit at rates laid down in Finance Department letter No. 1966-F., dated 17th December 1914, to cover approximately the working expenses on bronze coinage executed during the year. The charges amounted to Rs. 3,23,861 and includes Rs. 2,93,773 interest at 3½ per cent. on bullion and store balances and Capital Account which was valued at Rs. 63,13,370.

37. Balances sunk in the Mint.—The daily average silver bullion balance amounted to Rs. 13,06,475. The balance reached a maximum value of Rs. 21,66,766 on 1st April 1914 and declined to a minimum value of Rs. 4,39,586 on 24th February 1915.

COUNTERFEIT COINS.

38. The Mint eliminated during the examination of uncurrent silver coins received in the year 2,568 counterfeit rupees, 71 half rupees, 315 quarter rupees, and 474 eighth rupees.

39. In addition to this the Mint received counterfeit coins for examination and report from Magistrates, Police and Treasury Officers amounting to 466 rupees, 10 half rupees, 13 quarter rupees, 1 eighth rupee and 17 sovereigns. The majority of these were of a very palpable nature. One class of counterfeits, however, deserves special mention as these coins though bearing the year 1914 were apparently struck from similar dies to a coin bearing the year 1913 discovered in the previous official year, and it appears that they must have been struck in a coining press by a person who apparently has an intimate knowledge of minting.

OFFENCES AGAINST COINAGES.

40. The usual statement of offences against coinages is appended to this report. It will be noticed that the total number of cases brought to trial and the number of persons tried and convicted during the year was less than the previous year under each head. The ratio of the number of persons brought to trial to those convicted was 63·1 as against 58·9 of last year.

10. The Mint Master introduced during the year a method of taking coins for the pyxes of the silver coinage, which allows of much more impartial sampling than heretofore, and also provides for the easy and certain identification of any lakh whose fineness may be called in question. I quote from the Standing Orders, October 22nd, 1914.

"In the case of legal tender coins—Rupees and half Rupees—each bag when issued by examining room to Bullion Office will contain 2,001 Rupees or 4,001 half Rupees as the case may be.

When weighing out the coin in the presence of the Currency Office representative, one coin will be removed from each bag immediately the bag is opened and the bag then weighed out as at present.

The coin removed will be put at once into a box provided with a ticket giving the lakh number, through a slot in the lid, and that box will be sent to the Assay Office in the usual pyx box. (Bags will be used till the boxes are ready.)

Thus 50 coins from each lakh worth of rupees will form the pyx of that lakh, and ordinarily the Assay Office will return twenty of the coins unmutilated."

The sampling of the smaller coins, quarters and eighths of a rupee, is effected by the 1st Assistant to the Mint Master, personally visiting the presses at intervals during the day.

With the introduction of the above method I have returned to the system of ten individual assays of Rupees and half Rupees instead of five, inasmuch as it doubles the probability of detecting a coin outside remedy, and affords an average more consistently approximating to the average of the melted coins.

11. The post of Assay Master was held by Lieutenant-Col. F. Cunynghame Hughes, I.A., from 1st April to 9th September 1914 and by Lieutenant-Colonel J. J. Bourke, I.M.S., from 10th September 1914 to the end of the year under report.

The post of Deputy Assay Master was held by Lieutenant-Colonel F. C. Hughes, I.A., from the beginning of the year to 9th September 1914 in addition to his own duties of Assay Master and by the same officer for the remaining portion of the year.

Captain H. J. Wallis, I.A., was attached to the Department on special duty from 5th October to 17th November 1914.

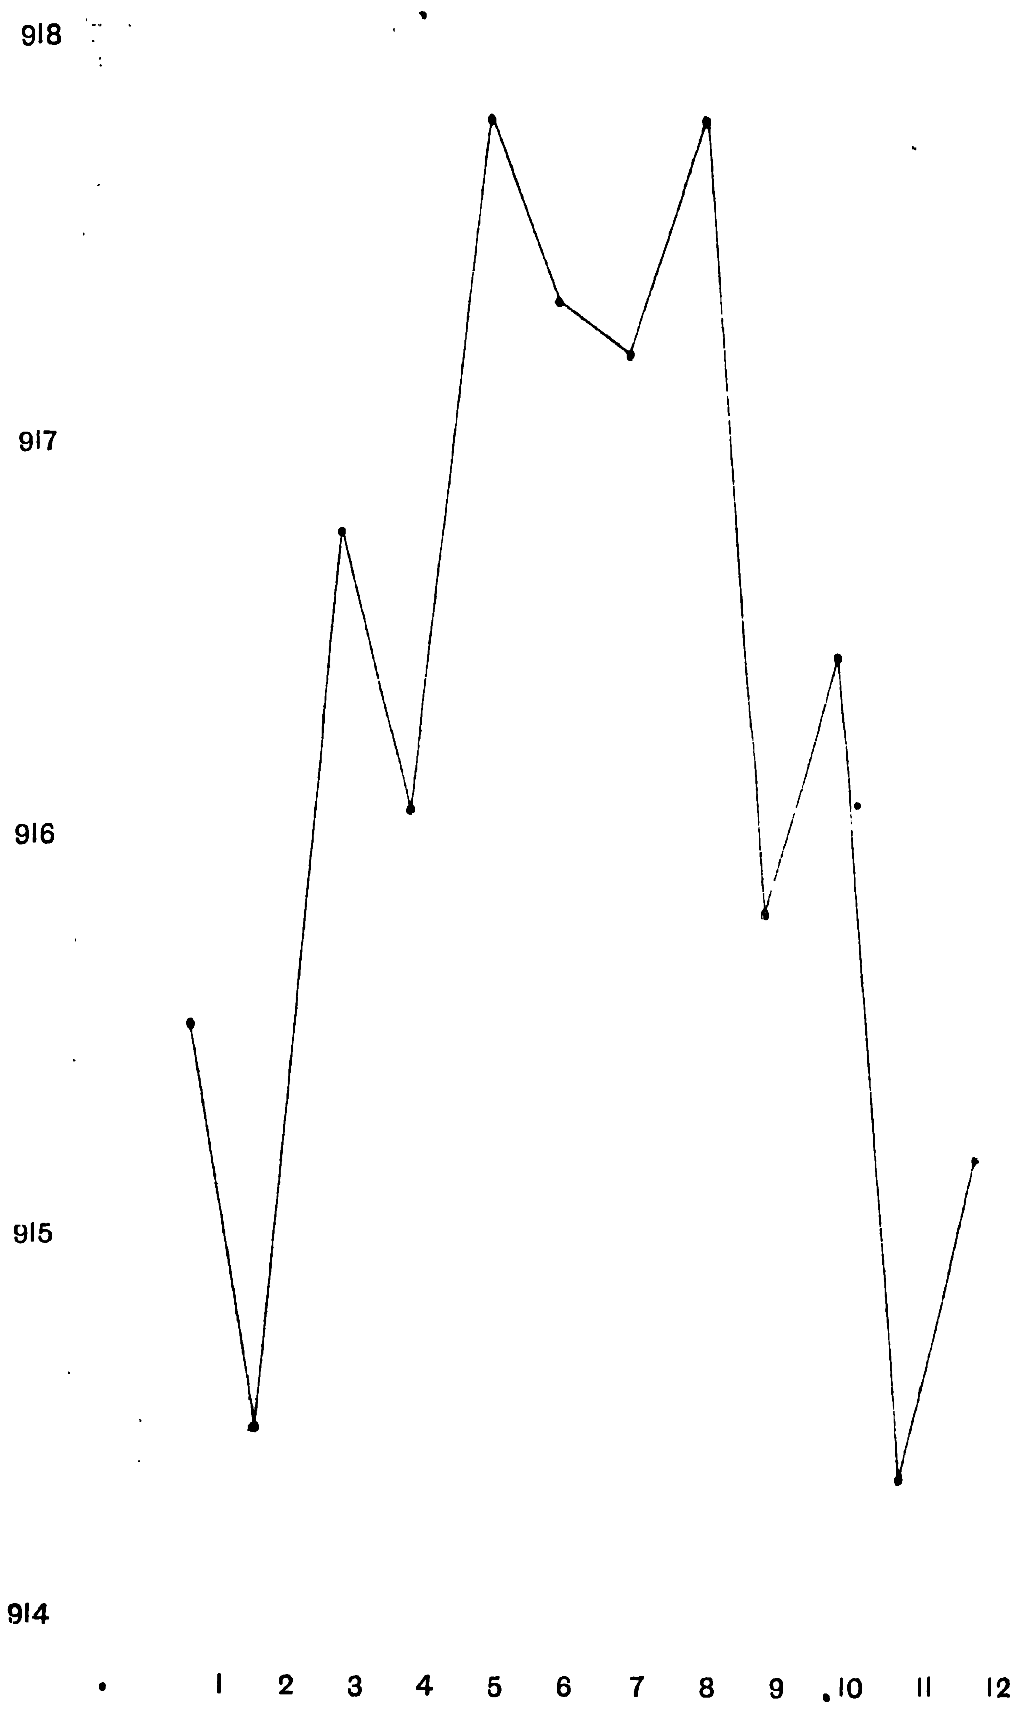
APPENDIX.

The Distribution of Silver in Rupee Ingot Heads.

A rupee is supposed to contain eleven-twelfths of silver alloyed with one-twelfth of the baser metal copper. Such an alloy is said to be 916·6 " fine ", that is, 1000 parts by weight contain 916·6 parts of silver. It has long been recognised that solid pieces of rupee-alloy are far from uniform in composition. The constituents partially separate from each other in cooling. One edge of a rupee may differ from the opposite, in richness in silver, by as much as 3·6 parts in a thousand; in consequence, a certain variation in silver content is permitted to the rupee. This is known as the "legal remedy", and a coin may vary two parts in a thousand from the standard fineness 916·6 hence, a rupee declared on assay to possess a fineness of 918·6 though far richer than the average of its fellows, would be allowed to pass into circulation, as, also, would one of 914·6, notwithstanding its poverty in silver.

A rupee bar, as cast in the Calcutta Mint, measures about 22⅝ inches in length, 2¼ inches in breadth, and half an inch in thickness. They are cast in long narrow moulds, standing upright, and the upper end, or ingot-head, has long been known to be much richer than the rest. Owing to contraction in cooling, this portion presents mechanical irregularities, and is dressed off, so as to present a clean bar to the rolls when it is desired to roll it down to the thickness of a rupee; but an additional amount is always removed on the ground that the head is so rich in silver that it might give rise to rupees beyond the legal remedy in fineness. In Calcutta Mint it has been usual to remove 1⅝ inches from the top of the bars, and the question was raised whether this amount could be safely reduced, and so an economy effected by increasing the output of the Melting Department.

In order to determine how much it is necessary to remove, it was decided to investigate the distribution of silver in the upper ends of rupee ingots as they come from the moulds.



The upper three inches of nine ingots were selected, and they were each sub-divided by cross and longitudinal cuts, by a fine hacksaw, into 72 parallelopipeds; each of these was further sub-divided into four by chisel cuts, and the resulting 288 parts, carefully numbered for identification, were assayed. The accompanying diagram, No. 1, gives what may be regarded as the usual distribution of silver in a rupee-ingot head. It is based on 2,541 separate assays, executed on parts obtained as above described. It will be observed that everywhere the central core is richer than the external parts, and that the maximum is attained at the extreme top, where it may far exceed the permissible limit of 918·7. It is evident that it would be impossible to permit this part to proceed to coinage. If we now examine how the mean fineness of each quarter inch of the bar varies, as we descend from the top, we find that, after the second quarter, or half an inch from the top, it sinks to the safe figure 916·5. If, paying due attention to the possibility of mechanical imperfections in the upper part of the casting, we recommend the removal of the upper inch, the diagram shows that an ample margin of safety will exist with regard to the fineness permissible to rupee coinage. This implies an addition of ⅝ inch to each bar as it leaves the Melting Department, or a gain of nearly 3 per cent. in output.

If we examine how the richness of the bar varies transversely, we are confronted by the fact that such variation is not continuous and uniform from the margins to the core, but is abruptly variable. Diagram No. 2 shows the transverse variation in fineness of the middle inch of the three inches examined. Not the edge, but the portion immediately subjacent, is poorest and alternations of rich and poor occur as the centre is approached. The causes of these peculiar variations in fineness are at present under investigation, but the results so far obtained do not yet warrant publication.

To—The Controller of Currency, Calcutta.

I have the honour to submit the Annual Report on the operations of the Bombay Mint for the financial year 1914-15, together with the prescribed statements.

2. Major A. L. C. McCormick, R.E., held charge of the Mint up to the afternoon of the 2nd March 1915 on which date I took over charge.

Captain R. E. Stace, R.E., officiating Deputy Mint Master, was attached to the Mint up to the 14th November 1914 when he reverted to Military duty for war service.

GOLD.

3. Receipts:—

(a) The value of sovereigns and half-sovereigns in respect of which certificates were issued during the year amounted to Rs. 2,58,46,337 as compared with Rs. 8,17,75,044 in 1913-1914 and consisted of the following:—

Classification.	Value in Rupees.
Sovereigns of current weight	2,43,37,410
Sovereigns of short weight or not more than 3 grains less than the standard weight (nominal value)	(a) 14,57,070
Half-sovereigns of short weight or not more than 3 grains less than the standard weight (nominal value)	(b) 51,442
Sovereigns of reduced weight or more than 3 grains less than the standard weight (bullion value)	(b) 167
Half-sovereigns of reduced weight or more than 3 grains less than the standard weight (bullion value)	(b) 248
TOTAL .	2,58,46,337

(a) Includes receipts from Government Treasuries.

(b) Received from Government Treasuries.

(b) In addition to the above, 2,762 sovereigns tendered as current weight were found to be reduced, soldered, fraudulently defaced, or of foreign mintage, on detailed examination at the Mint, and were withdrawn by the tenderers.

(c) With the exception of gold of the value of Rs. 415 used for medal work, the whole of the gold received was transferred to the Currency Gold Coin Account.

(d) No remittances were shipped to London during the year by the Mint.

(e) At the close of the year the balance of the Currency Gold Coin Account amounted to Rs. 82,04,482 and consisted of sovereigns and half-sovereigns.

(f) The procedure for the examination of sovereigns imported by the Exchange Banks, referred to in para. 3 (f) of last year's Report, was further modified in Controller of Currency's letter No. B. R. C. 364-112-13, dated the 15th April 1914 in so far that the Currency Office now examines the current weight coins only, the Mint examining the light weight coins.

(g) Owing to the risk involved in shipping gold to England during the War, an arrangement was entered into with Government by which the outturn of gold from the Indian Mines is deposited fort-nightly at the Mint for safe custody on behalf of the Bank of England after melting and assay. The first consignment was received on the 25th September 1914, the amount deposited to end of March 1915 being 345,980 standard ounces.

5. Silver Coinage:—

(a) The Government coinage carried out during the year consisted of rupees, half, quarter and eighth rupees amounting to 14,414,361 pieces, valued at Rs. 71,90,471. Rs. 71,90,584 were paid into the Reserve Treasury, Bombay.

(b) The whole of the coinage examined by the Assay Master during the year was found to be within legal remedy for weight and fineness.

6. Percentages of good coin:—

The percentages of good coin calculated on the amounts rolled were as detailed below :—

Description of Coins.	Weight of ingots rolled (in tolas).	Percentage of good coin.
Rupees	81,28,696	67·32
Half Rupees	7,02,057	64·33
Quarter Rupees	8,26,887	63·38
Eighth Rupees	13,07,398	56·82

7. Silver operative losses:—

The silver operative losses are detailed below :—

Table A.

	Rs.	A.	P.		Rs.	A.	P.
Opening Balance .	14,90,339	10	2	Issues .	71,93,263	0	8
Receipts . .	66,38,314	14	0	Closing Balance .	9,34,120	5	6
Refined Silver of 1913-1914 recovered in 1914-1915 .	7,802	0	0	Refined Silver for 1914-1915 recovered in 1915-1916	1,592	0	0
Loss on Melting balance in hand on 1st April 1914 worked up during 1914-1915 .	343	0	0	Loss on Melting balance in hand on 1st April 1915 to be worked up during 1915-1916 .	325	0	0
				Operative loss .	17,499	2	0
	81,36,799	8	2		81,36,799	8	2

This gives a rate of loss of Rupees 104·29 per lakh of standard tolas coined. The value of the issues has been taken on the individual pyx instead of on the melted pyx, since this gives the nearest approximation to the true value of the coinage. On the melted pyx, the rate of loss is 91·25 per lakh.

This does not represent the true loss to Government since the item "Receipts" has been swollen by assigning finenesses to the silver received in excess of the reputed finenesses. In the case of this year when receipts were confined to uncurrent coin only the figure shown is in excess of the value of the weight of withdrawn coin at standard fineness (11/12ths) by Rs. 4,782-8-0. While it is true that in the case of certain withdrawn coin of earlier years the silver actually is of a fineness in excess of 11/12ths yet these coins form less than half of the total withdrawals. On the remainder the excess of fineness is non-existent but owing to the fining effect of melting it is necessary when alligating to attribute this fictitious higher fineness to them. The apparent gain is of course nullified by the weight loss due to the fining. By including this fictitious gain on the receipt side the loss shown on the other side is necessarily increased and is incorrect.

I therefore give in Table B an account showing the loss if the true fineness as ascertained by careful experiment is assigned to each of the coinages in the uncurrent coin receipts.

Table B.

Receipts calculated on the true fineness of the various forms of silver.

				Operative Loss .	5,309	14	0
	81,34,610	4	2		81,34,610	4	2

According to this statement the loss is at the rate of 73·84 per lakh of standard tolas coined.

This is in my opinion a fair and true record of the working of the Mint, the loss shown being that actually sustained by Government in the minting of silver coin.

It might be argued that the Mints should give credit for the uncurrent coin received only at the rate of their nominal fineness, $\frac{11}{12}$ths, irrespective of the coinage, since this is the reputed fineness of all Government silver coin and is consequently the rate at which Government would be entitled to take credit were they to draw up a balance sheet of their coinages. I append Table C to show the result of debiting the receipts at this rate.

Table C.

All receipts of uncurrent coin are here debited at the rate of Re. 1 per tola; this being the actual value of the silver to Government after receipt at the Mint and before being operated on.

	Rs.	A.	P.		Rs.	A.	P.
Opening Balance .	14,90,339	10	2	Issues . .	71,93,263	0	8

				Operative Loss .	2,716	10	0
	81,32,017	0	2		81,32,017	0	2

This gives a rate of loss of 37·78 per lakh of standard tolas coined.

While I should be glad as an officer of the Mint to see this method accepted since it gives a very favourable showing to the Mint work and does not seem unfair to Government yet I am not prepared to support it as against Table B, which in my opinion gives the truest account and is perfectly fair to both sides. I may point out that as receipts of 1835 and 1840 coin diminish the difference between Table B and Table C will diminish 'pari passu.'

NICKEL.

8. The number of nickel one-anna pieces coined during the year was 42,352,000 of the value of Rs. 26,47,000 being Rs. 2,48,000 less than of the previous year. Rs. 11,58,000 worth were taken over by the Reserve Treasury, Bombay.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

Indian Military Service Family Pension Regulations.

No. 879-P.—In accordance with the terms of G. G. O. No. 1315, dated the 28th December 1872, as republished in G. G. O. No. 560, dated the 23rd May 1873, the Governor

General in Council directs the publication of the following documents regarding the condition of the Indian Military Service Family Pension Fund as on the 31st March 1914:—

India Office, London,

28th May 1915.

Financial (Funds).

No. 2.

To His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor General of India in Council.

MY LORD,

Indian Military Service Family Pensions. Eighth Valuation as at 31st March 1914.

You will have learned from my predecessor's Despatch of the 26th March last, Financial (Funds) No. 1, that in consequence of the death of Sir G. F. Hardy, K.C.B., the completion of the valuation of the Indian Military Service Family Pensions as at 31st March 1914 had been entrusted to Mr. J. Douglas Watson, F. I. A., General Manager and Actuary of the Star Assurance Society, and that instructions had been given that his calculations should be based on the experience of Mortality, Marriage, Re-marriage, Issue, etc., ascertained up to the 31st March 1914. The Despatch also informed you that the Secretary of State had decided that the question of making any alterations in the rates of contribution on account of the results shown in the valuation would be postponed until the conclusion of the War in order that the effect of War casualties on the assets and liabilities might be known before a settlement is reached.

2. Mr. Watson's Report has now been received, and is enclosed together with the Consolidated Accounts for the six years ended on the 31st March 1914.

3. The valuation shows that the surplus on the whole scheme is 658,809*l.*, and that the separate investigations of the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers and the Marine Sections and of the Insurance Branch show a surplus on each. The subscribers will note with satisfaction that the surplus allows of a continuance for the present of the 20 per cent reduction of the full tabular rates of contributions, and this temporary reduction will accordingly be continued until the date of the publication of the next valuation. To meet this, 496,055*l.* of the surplus must be regarded as reserved. The question of the application of the remainder of the surplus will be postponed as already stated.

4. I have carefully considered the reasons given by the Actuary for his view that a continuance of separate valuations of the Royal Artillery and Engineers and of the Royal Indian Marine Sections is unnecessary, and in view of the comparatively small number of members included in these Sections and of the fact that there will be no influx of new subscribers, I agree with his conclusions and have decided that separate valuations of these two Sections shall be discontinued.

5. I have noted Mr. Watson's recommendation that the next valuation should not be unduly delayed, and when the present War is brought to a conclusion and its effect on the scheme can be fully appraised, a date for the next investigation will be fixed.

6. I have to request that this Despatch and the Actuary's Report may be published in the "Gazette of India", and that the date of publication may be notified to me.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord,

Your Lordship's most obedient, humble Servant,

(Signed) AUSTEN CHAMBERLAIN.

INDIAN MILITARY SERVICE FAMILY PENSIONS.

ACTUARIAL REPORT ON VALUATION OF ASSETS AND LIABILITIES AS AT 31ST MARCH 1914

BY

J. DOUGLAS WATSON, Fellow of the Institute of Actuaries; Fellow of the Actuarial Society of America; General Manager and Actuary of the Star Assurance Society; Consulting Actuary of the Barbados Mutual Life Assurance Society; Consulting Actuary of the Demerara Mutual Life Assurance Society, Limited.

32, Moorgate Street, London, E. C,
12th April 1915.

My Lord Marquess,

In accordance with instructions conveyed to me by Sir Lionel Abrahams in his letters of the 16th November 1914 and 24th March last, I have investigated the financial position of the Indian Military Service Family Pension Scheme as at 31st March 1914.

2. The purpose of the Scheme is to provide pensions for the widows and orphans of officers, such pensions to be provided for by payments made by the officers during their lifetime, and it is obvious that in order to ascertain whether the Scheme is in a satisfactory financial position at any given moment it is necessary to make an estimate of (a) the present value of all the pensions which may be payable in the future to the widows and orphans of the members and (b) the present value of all the future payments which the members have contracted to pay.

3. As regards the present value of the pensions, this will depend upon the ages at which the officers die and the number who are married or may marry, the ages of their wives, the mortality of the wives, the number of children who are born and the ages at which they die and the percentage of daughters who marry.

4. As regards the present value of the future contributions of members, this will depend upon the age and rank at which the officers join, the age at which they are promoted and marry and the age at which they retire or for other reasons pay half subscriptions and the age at which they die.

5. When a Pension Scheme such as this is started, estimates (based so far as possible on past experience in connection with similar schemes) have to be made as to the various matters mentioned in paragraphs 3 and 4, and it is then possible, having decided what pensions it is desired to provide, to calculate the corresponding payments which must be made by the members (or vice versa), the only additional assumption necessary being as to the rate of interest at which the subscriptions will be accumulated. Then at the inauguration of the scheme it will be possible to say that (a) the present value of the future pensions will be exactly equal to (b) the present value of the members' contributions.

6. As time goes on, however, this equality no longer holds as will be at once apparent if for the sake of simplicity the case is considered of such a Pension Scheme assumed to be started by, say, 1,000 married members all joining at, say, age 25. All the members will commence paying subscriptions, donations, &c., at once, but probably for some years only a very few members will die leaving widows and orphans to whom pensions will be payable. If then at the end of, say, ten years the position is again considered, it will be seen that (a) all the surviving members are ten years older, so that the value of their future subscriptions is very much less than it was when the scheme started, while on the other hand (b) all the wives are correspondingly older, so that the time when they may in the ordinary course expect to become widows is nearer, and the value of their future pensions has consequently increased. After ten years, therefore, the present value of the future pensions will be more than the present value of the future payments by members, and unless in the meantime the subscriptions of members not required to pay current pensions (if any) have been kept in hand and accumulated at interest the Pension Scheme will be insolvent even if all the assumptions made when starting the Scheme as to future death, marriage, and birth rates, etc., have proved exactly right.

7. This same reasoning applies to the Indian Military Service Family Pension Scheme where new members come in year by year and explains why for many years in such a Pension Scheme the income must exceed the outgo and the difference be accumulated if the Scheme is to remain solvent.

8. Moreover, although for some years after such a Scheme is started, it is not possible more than roughly to ascertain whether it is actually working out as was assumed when the rules were framed, after a time, if the membership is large enough, it is possible by means of estimates as to the future based upon the actual experience of the fund in the past to make reliable calculations and ascertain how, after making due allowance for the accumulations of past subscriptions, the value of the future subscriptions payable compares with the value of the pensions promised.

9. From these general considerations it will be evident that such an investigation (usually called a valuation) can only be of use if the Scheme is of some years' standing and the number of members fairly large. The Indian Military Service Family Pension Scheme was started on 1st January 1873, and the following Table shows the growth in the number of subscribers and beneficiaries and in the "Balance at Credit of Scheme" (i.e., the accumulation of unexpended past subscriptions) :—

TABLE I.

From this Table it will be seen that the number of subscribers has increased fairly steadily to slightly over 6,000. As the Scheme is now (since 31st December 1914) closed to new members, the number of subscribers will gradually diminish. It will be noticed also that the proportion of married members has increased, and for some time it may be expected that the number of married subscribers will increase although the total number of subscribers will decrease.

As the number of subscribing members decreases by death so the number of incumbent widows will increase for a considerable time until eventually a time will come when on the average the number of widows who become entitled to pensions each year will be less than the number of widows who cease to draw pensions owing to death or re-marriage, with the result that the number of incumbent widows will gradually tend to decrease. Similarly the number of orphan children on the Fund will continue to increase for some considerable time.

The "Balance at Credit of Scheme" represents the accumulation of the payments by members, less payments for pensions and expenses, accumulated at interest. The necessity for keeping such a balance in hand has already been explained, and for a time the "Balance at Credit of Scheme" will continue to increase. Eventually as the number of subscribers decreases and the number of pensions payable increases, the income from current subscriptions will be insufficient to pay the current pensions, and thereafter the pensions will be partly payable out of the "Balance at Credit of Scheme" which will gradually diminish and finally disappear when the last pensioner dies. It is interesting to notice that this may not happen for many years. For instance, if a member at present aged 25 were to marry at 55 and then have a daughter who lived to an old age it might be well over a hundred years from now before her pension ceased.

10. Having regard to the age and membership of the Indian Military Service Family Pension Scheme, fairly reliable estimates as to the future can be based upon the rates of mortality etc. which have prevailed among the subscribers to the Fund and among the actual and prospective pensioners in the past and as explained in the Report made by the late Sir George F. Hardy in connection with the valuation of the Fund as at 31st March 1908, he based the valuation then made upon Tables of Mortality etc. specially prepared by him from the actual recent working of the Scheme between 31st March 1888 and 31st March 1908 with the assistance where necessary (as in the case of advanced ages where the data relating to these was insufficient) of Mortality Tables etc. derived from other analogous data.

11. In connection with the present Valuation I have been furnished by the Director of Funds with full data covering the period from 31st March 1908 to 31st March 1914, and from this data—in conjunction with the data used by Sir George Hardy—fresh Tables have been prepared upon which the present Valuation has been based. The technical actuarial methods employed have been similar to those adopted by Sir George Hardy in connection with the 1908 Valuation and fully described by him in his Report. Moreover the rates of mortality, marriage, and birth disclosed by the more recent data do not differ from those used by him in such a way as to render it necessary to reproduce in this Report the numerous Tables included in his Report. The following brief observations supplementing his Report may however be made :—

(a) Mortality Experience of Subscribers.—The progressive improvement in the mortality of the subscribers noted in Sir George Hardy's Report has continued during the six years ending March 1914, especially at the younger ages. This is probably due partly to the general improvement in the health conditions of Europeans in tropical climates, and partly to the fact that during this period there were no wars causing serious casualties amongst Indian officers.

(b) Mortality Experience of Wives and Widows.—The mortality amongst the wives and widows shows no change.

(c) Mortality Experience of Sons and Daughters.—The mortality amongst the sons and daughters has again been extremely light. Owing to the fact that the fund was only established in 1873 very few of the subscribers' daughters exceed age 40, and it has again been necessary to have recourse to the data of the Madras Military Fund to estimate the mortality to be expected amongst the daughters at the older ages.

(d) Marriages of Subscribers.—There has been no appreciable change in the marriage rate amongst officers, but there seems to be a slight tendency for subscribers to marry relatively older wives.

(e) Re-marriage of Widows.—There have been only 36 re-marriages during the period 1908-1914, and, although the figures show a somewhat increased rate of re-marriage, the numbers are so small that this may well be a temporary fluctuation.

(f) Marriage of Daughters.—The marriage rate amongst daughters has slightly increased especially at the ages under 30. In order to provide against a possible lowering of the rate in the future a reduction of about 20 per cent has again been allowed for as in the last Valuation.

(g) Rates of Birth.—The birth rates of both sons and daughters have somewhat decreased, and in estimating the liabilities that may be expected to arise in the future in respect of further children born to existing subscribers the observed birth rates have been increased by 10 per cent to allow for future fluctuations.

(h) Promotions and Retirements.—As the annual subscriptions of members vary according to their rank and length of service, and as donations are payable on promotion and on marriage, it is necessary to make an estimate of the probable amount of annual subscription or single payment which on the average the members will be paying as they grow older. For this purpose the calculations have been based upon the average ages of members on promotion to each class in the past, and the proportion of members married and single and active and retired. Allowance has also been made for the reduction of contributions in the case of officers on leave or retired or who for any other reason only pay half rates.

(i) Liabilities in respect of future Wives and Children.—The contingent liabilities which will arise in the event of officers now single marrying, or of widowers re-marrying, have again been estimated on the assumption that if the age of the husband exceeds that of the wife by more than 12 years the extra liability thrown on the Scheme will be covered by the "disparity donations" in addition to the marriage and "excess age" donations, payable under Regulation 12.

12. In making the Valuation it has according to instructions been assumed that in the future the Scheme will be credited with interest at the rate of 4 per cent per annum upon the balance of the accumulated difference between the income and expenditure for the time being so long as any of the existing contracts remain in force. Moreover future expenses of management have been allowed for upon the same basis as at present, viz., at the rate of 2½ per cent upon the contributions received and 1 per cent upon the benefits paid.

13. Special attention should also be drawn to the fact that in accordance with instructions no allowance has been made in the Valuation for the financial effect upon the Pension Scheme of the present War. This will undoubtedly affect the position of the Fund owing to the very large additional mortality amongst the members and will probably affect the Scheme in other directions by altering the future marriage rates, ages at promotion and retirement and so on.

Results of the Valuation.

14. The Valuation Balance Sheet appended to this Report (Appendix A) shows in detail the results of the Valuation of the Scheme upon the assumptions described above and assuming that the full rates of contributions and donations as set out in Regulation 12 are payable in future. It will be seen that there was on 31st March 1914 a surplus according to the present Valuation of 658,809*l*.

15. This surplus will be sufficient to permit of the continuance for the present of the reduction of 20 per cent in the future contributions and donations and leave a substantial margin to provide against possible future contingencies. It is therefore suggested that notwithstanding the possible adverse effect upon the scheme of the War (the financial effect of which cannot at present be estimated) the present reductions in subscriptions and donations should be continued until the publication of the next actuarial investigation, which investigation should not, however, be unduly postponed.

Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers.

16. In accordance with instructions a separate Valuation of the assets and liabilities with respect to the pensions in the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers Branch of the Service has been made. The following Table shows the number of subscribers and beneficiaries and the Balance of Fund as at the dates shown :—

TABLE II.

Date.	Subscribers.			Widows.		Orphans.						Balance of Fund.

„ 1914 ...	54	16	70	9	51	...	30	15	51	15	81	70,461

17. It will be seen that the number of members is very small and is not sufficient to form a basis for calculating special tables of mortality, etc., based upon the past experience of these particular members. Consequently the only practicable plan is to use the Tables employed in the general Valuation (in which these contracts have already been included) for this small Section, and on this basis the results of the Valuation are set out in detail in the Valuation Balance Sheet appended to this Report (Appendix B).

Royal Indian Marine.

18. A corresponding separate Valuation of the pensions in respect of the Royal Indian Marine Branch of the Service has been made. Here again, the members involved are very small as shown in the following Table :—

TABLE III.

Date.	Subscribers.			Widows.		Orphans.						Balance of Fund.
						Sons.		Daughters.		Total.

„ 1914 ...	123	135	258	13	123	6	69	10	83	16	152	61,947

19. For the reasons explained in paragraph 17 the Valuation has been based upon exactly the same Tables as were used in the General Valuation (in which these contracts have already been included) and the results are set out in detail in the Valuation Balance Sheet appended to this Report (Appendix C).

20. Having regard to the small number of cases involved in the Royal Artillery and Royal Engineers and the Royal Indian Marine Sections, these do not, as stated above, provide a sufficient basis upon which to frame any satisfactory actuarial investigation and as these Sections will not any longer be recruited by the influx of new members (so that the membership will never now get large enough to furnish trustworthy separate statistics) I would recommend that the separate statistics which have heretofore been kept as to these Sections and the separate Valuations be discontinued as they do not appear to serve any useful purpose.

Insurance Branch.

21. The total number of insurances in force at the date of the Valuation 31st April 1914 was 218 insuring in all Rs. 4,88,107. The Valuation of the liabilities has been made on the same basis as on the last occasion (i.e., $O^{m\,(5)}$ Mortality Table with interest assumed 3½ per cent per annum) and the result is shown in the Valuation Balance Sheet appended to this Report (Appendix D).

22. It will be seen that there is a surplus of Rs. 40,208. It must, however, be borne in mind that no special provision has been made for the extra sums which will be payable out of the Insurance Branch owing to the War.

I have the honour to be,

My Lord Marquess,

Your Lordship's most obedient humble Servant,

J. DOUGLAS WATSON.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 22nd July 1915, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

1. An area of low pressure, such as often accompanies a renewal of the activity of the monsoon, was shown during the week in both the Arabian Sea and the Bay of Bengal. It caused an increase of rain in Burma and the south of the Peninsula, but as is usually the case exercised temporarily a prejudicial effect in other parts of the country.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 17th July 1915.

Burma.—The rainfall was general over Lower Burma, being heavy in Arakan and moderate elsewhere. In Upper Burma the fall was light particularly in the dry zone. Agricultural operations concerning winter rice in Lower Burma and concerning miscellaneous crops in Upper Burma are progressing. Standing crops are generally doing well. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon has risen and is much above normal.

Assam.—The weather is on the whole getting dry and seasonable. Floods are reported generally from all the plains districts except Lakhimpur and have affected standing crops specially in low lands. Sowing and transplantation of paddy have been obstructed in places. Floods are subsiding in the Surma Valley and in Kamrup. Prospects of tea are on the whole good and of jute, sugarcane and rice fair to poor. Some damage to tea and rice seedlings by insect pests are reported from the Sibsagar district. The price of common rice is stationary. Cattle disease is reported from four districts. Fodder is reported to be scarce in two districts.

Bengal.—Seasonable rain fell in the Darjeeling and Jalpaiguri districts and in parts of the Mymensingh district. The fall was slight to moderate elsewhere. More rain is urgently wanted especially in the western Bengal for the transplantation of paddy seedlings and also generally for the growth of the standing crops. Weeding of autumn crops is practically over. Harvesting of autumn paddy and jute is in progress in the eastern districts. Steeping and washing of jute have also commenced. Prospects of autumn paddy and jute are fair to good and those of winter rice are generally promising. Locusts have appeared in certain tea gardens of the Darjeeling district. The daily average of persons employed on relief works in Tippera and Noakhali during the week ending 17th July amounted to 1,524 and 1,757, respectively. The total number of persons in receipt of gratuitous relief in Noakhali during the week was 38,206. Cattle disease is reported from nine districts. The average price of common rice has risen by 1 per cent as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—Rain fell in all districts of the Province. The fall was light in Orissa and Chota Nagpur and light to moderate in Bihar More rain is urgently wanted in parts of Bihar and in Orissa and Chota Nagpur. Transplantation of paddy continues in Bihar The operations are being retarded in Orissa and Chota Nagpur for want of sufficient rain. Standing crops are doing well except in Angul and Puri where paddy seedlings and other crops on high lands are suffering for want of rain. The average price of common rice has risen as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from twelve districts. The average daily attendance on test works in the district of Balasore was 105 in Basudebpur and 16 in Soro. The condition of standing crops is on the whole good in the Feudatory States of Orissa but rain is badly needed in some States for transplantation of paddy.

United Provinces.—Rain has fallen throughout the Provinces but the amount has varied from district to district and more is still required in almost half the districts of the Provinces. Agricultural operations have been somewhat retarded for want of rain in the Upper and Central Doab and in other central tracts. Standing crops have been slightly damaged by locusts in a few districts. Sugarcane is flourishing. Prospects are good. The condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory though cattle disease still prevails in some villages. Food, fodder and water are ample. Prices tend to rise.

Punjab.—Light rain has fallen in all the reporting districts except in the west. More rain is badly wanted everywhere. Extra spring crops are being reaped with yield average to good. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are generally normal. The condition of irrigated standing crops is average to good but unirrigated crops are suffering from drought. Grasshoppers have done much damage to the sown crops in many districts. Cattle are healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation are generally sufficient. Prices are stationary or are rising slightly and in the case of the spring food grains they range between normal and warning rates and in other cases between warning and scarcity rates or above scarcity rates. Prices of wheat:—Rawalpindi, Ambala, Lahore and Lyallpur 9¼ and Ferozepore 10 seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—No rain fell during the week except at Sheikh Budin in the Dera Ismail Khan district. The weather is very hot and clear. The condition of crops is average in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan and good to average in Bannu. Rain is urgently required in Dera Ismail Khan. Maize and chari have been sown in some places in Peshawar. Sowing of maize has commenced in the Bannu tahsil. Harvesting of extra spring crops is proceeding in Bannu with outturn good to average on irrigated and unirrigated areas. The outturn of melons is average in the Swabi tahsil of the Peshawar district. The condition of cattle is generally good in Peshawar, good in Bannu and fair in Dera Ismail Khan. Fodder and water are sufficient in Peshawar. In Bannu dry fodder is sufficient and in Dera Ismail Khan fodder is procurable. Drinking water is scarce in the Thal tract and in the Marwat tahsil of Bannu. The supply of water is diminishing in certain villages of the Dera tahsil. The Paharpur canal is running. Prices of wheat and barley have risen in Peshawar, of wheat and gram are rising steadily in Bannu and of wheat, gram and bajra are rising in Dera Ismail Khan.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8½ to 13 and maize from 8½ to 18 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. Cattle disease prevails in the Ramban tahsil. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall was good in Muzaffarabad and insignificant elsewhere. Cattle disease prevails in Anantnag. Fodder is insufficient in Baramula. Prices are rising. The water-supply is unequal to the demand.

Rajputana.—No rain fell in Bikaner, Jaisalmer, Banswara, Tonk and Kishengarh. Rain varying from 1 to 2½ inches was received in Dungarpur, Udaipur and the hilly tracts of Mewar. Slight falls are reported elsewhere. More rain is needed everywhere for autumn sowings. Pasturage and fodder are reported to be scarce in Dungarpur, the hilly tracts of Mewar and in parts of Jhalawar, Karauli and Merwara. Cattle are in fair to good condition. Water is generally sufficient. Prices are rising in most places.

Central India.—The weather is cloudy and cool. The rainfall during the week was partial in Gwalior and general elsewhere. More rain is needed everywhere. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress throughout but it has been retarded in the Ranpura Bhanpura district of the Indore State and in some parts of the Southern States owing to want of rain. Agricultural stock is in good condition except in the Narsinghgarh and Khilchipur States of the Bhopal Agency and in parts of Alirajpur of the Southern States where cattle disease is reported. The fodder supply is sufficient throughout except in the Agar, Susner, Shujawalpur, Shahjahanpur and Khachrod tahsils of the Gwalior State, in the Khilchipur State of the Bhopal Agency where fodder is bad and in parts of Dhar and Manpur of the Southern States. Prices are fluctuating slightly in all districts of the Indore State except Nimawar and also in the Southern States, are normal in Bhopal, are high in Baghelkhand and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues to be hot and cloudy. The rainfall during the week has been general from 64 cents in Mandla to 3½ inches in Akola. Sowing of cotton is approaching completion and of other autumn crops is in progress. Germination is generally satisfactory but more rain would be welcome. Cattle are in good condition. Fodder and water are sufficient. There is no marked fluctuation in prices.

Feudatory States.—Light to moderate showers of rain not exceeding 2 inches fell in nine States. Sowing of autumn crops continues. The price of gram rose in Udaipur.

Bombay.—Rain fell during the week in the Presidency Proper, Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar. The rainfall was beneficial but not quite sufficient. More rain is urgently needed everywhere except in the Karnatak. Sowing is generally progressing. Transplantation continues in Sind, Surat and the Konkan. Seedlings have been damaged by insects in the Upper Sind Frontier, by locusts in two talukas of Sukkur and the Upper Sind Frontier and are withering in Kaira, Karachi, three talukas of Larkana and in Thar and Parkar. The fodder supply is sufficient except in certain parts of Karachi, two talukas of Larkana, three talukas of Hyderabad, Kaira, six talukas of Thar and Parkar, four talukas of Nawabshah and two States of Rewa Kantha. Cattle are in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in two talukas and one petha of Poona. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Water for irrigation is deficient in Sind and Surat. Prices have slightly fallen in the Deccan and the Karnatak and are generally steady elsewhere.

Hyderabad.—Good rain fell in the Raichur district and light to fair rain was received elsewhere. The average fall was 1 inch 53 cents. Autumn crops and early rice are being sown generally and weeding has commenced. Crops are in fair condition. Water scarcity prevails in one taluka, fodder scarcity in two and cattle disease in two. Prices of grains are almost constant. Coarse rice is selling at 9 seers and white juar at 13 seers per rupee in Hyderabad city. The highest price in districts is juar 10½ seers per rupee in Mahbubnagar and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Paddy, ragi and other crops are being sown in parts. The condition of standing crops is good but rain is needed in four districts. Prospects of the season are generally good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

FORESTS.

Simla, the 21st July 1915.

The following review of forest administration in British India during the five years ending the 30th June 1914 is published for general information.

Review of Forest Administration in British India during 1909-1914.

Constitution of the forests.

Forest Areas.

1. The areas controlled by the Forest Department are classed either as reserved, protected or unclassed State forests. In reserved forests boundaries are clearly defined and demarcated and rights carefully recorded at settlement; in protected forests boundaries are not always demarcated and the record of rights is less perfect; while in the large areas of Government waste, known as unclassed State forests, systematic management is not attempted and the control of the Department is confined, generally speaking, to revenue collection until suitable blocks are converted into reserved or protected forests or until areas are taken up for cultivation.

On the 30th June 1914, at the close of the quinquennial period now being dealt with, the total forest area in British India (including the Shan States) was 245,612 square miles, of which 96,297 square miles were reserved and 8,390 protected forests, the remainder (140,925 square miles) being unclassed State forests. It is a striking fact that of the total area of British India (including the Shan States) more than one-fifth is under the control of the Department and nearly one-tenth under regular protection.

Between 1909 and 1914 the net increase in the area of the reserves was 1,736 square miles. In the Central Provinces no less than 2,237 square miles classed as suitable for the extension of cultivation were disforested for this purpose, while in Burma 3,751 square miles of unclassed forest were reserved. Elsewhere the reserved area remained fairly steady, and in most parts of India no marked variations are to be expected. The reserved area, however, may be increased by the conversion of protected into reserved forests and this indeed is contemplated on a large scale in the United Provinces, while on the other hand the reserved area is from time to time reduced by the relinquishment of isolated blocks which do not repay the trouble and expense of management or by the disforestation of areas required for ordinary cultivation. In Burma and Assam, however, where there are very large areas of unclassed forests, considerable portions of which might, without prejudice to the demands of cultivation, be brought under permanent control, further provision for the future is necessary by the reservation of suitable areas.

Forest Surveys.

During the quinquennial period forest surveys, mainly on the scale of two inches to the mile, were carried out over 5,300 square miles in all provinces except Bengal, by the Survey of India. At the close of the period 77 per cent. of the total area of reserved and protected forests had been surveyed.*

Organisatio[n]

Administration and Control.

2. Until his retirement in April 1913, the appointment of Inspector General of Forests was held by Mr. F. Beadon Bryant, C.S.I., when he was succeeded by Mr. G. S. Hart, C.I.E., the present incumbent. Mr. L. Mercer, C.I.E., the President of the Research Institute, officiated for three months in 1911 and Mr. M. Hill, C.I.E., for six months in 1914.

During the period under review the tours of the Inspector General extended over portions of Bengal, Assam, the United Provinces, the Punjab, the Central Provinces, Burma, Madras, the Andamans, Coorg and Kashmir. These tours are of the greatest value not only to the Government of India but also to Local Governments and local officers, as they enable an independent opinion on professional matters to be obtained from an officer of wide experience and tried ability. Thus, to quote two instances only, the value of Mr. Beadon Bryant's note on Forest Revenue and Expenditure in Madras has been warmly acknowledged by the Government of that Presidency, while Mr. Hart's note on the Burma forests deals with questions of vital importance and may have considerable influence on their future management.

In the provinces forest work is controlled by Conservators and in Burma and the Central Provinces by Chief Conservators. These latter posts are of somewhat recent date, having been created in Burma in 1905 and in the Central Provinces provisionally in 1906 and permanently in 1911. But the experience gained during the past ten years has been sufficient to shew that the appointments were fully justified both on financial and on administrative grounds. Technical work is co-ordinated; one adviser, in place of several, is given to the Local Government; and forest revenue increases. Recently a Chief Conservator has been sanctioned for Bombay and the creation of a similar appointment for the United Provinces is now under consideration.

Board of Forestry.

3. An important reform effected in 1910 was the constitution of a Board of Forestry, composed of representative Conservators and Chief Conservators under the presidency of the Inspector General of Forests. Meetings are held at intervals of three years when the programme of research work is considered and questions connected with the Research Institute and College and forest administration generally are discussed. The first meeting of the Board was held between the 31st March and 6th April 1910 and the second between the 24th and 29th March 1913. As a means of furthering the cause of forest education and research, of stimulating commercial exploitation, of co-ordinating work and of interchanging ideas, the Board of Forestry has already proved its value. With the creation of this Board, the old Board of Control of the Imperial Forest College was abolished.

Recruitment and Training.
(a) Imperial Service.

4. Officers of the Imperial Service are recruited under covenant with the Secretary of State and receive their training in England and on the Continent. After the abolition of Coopers Hill College in 1905, probationers were trained at Oxford, but in 1911 it was decided that training might be undergone at any British University possessing a forest school approved by the Secretary of State, and probationers can now be trained at Oxford, Cambridge and Edinburgh. Instruction at these centres is supplemented by a course of practical training in selected forests on the Continent under the supervision of a Director of Indian Forest Studies.

(b) Provincial Service.

Up to the year 1906 members of the Provincial Service were recruited by the promotion of men who had served for a period of years as Rangers. In 1906, with the object of raising the standard of the Provincial Service, a system of direct appointment was introduced and the candidates chosen, either Rangers already in service or young men of good education and social standing, were required to undergo a third year of training at Dehra Dun in addition to the ordinary course of two years. On the completion of this course and of three years' approved service either as Ranger or Probationary Extra Assistant Conservator, the candidate became eligible for permanent promotion to the Provincial Service. This system, which was at best a temporary measure, proved unsatisfactory, and in 1912 a separate two years' course for Provincial Service candidates was prescribed. There can be no doubt that this is a great improvement on the old method of recruitment, but the candidates selected for training have not always been of the standard required, and the Government of India desire to impress on Local Governments and Administrations the importance of careful selection. The lectures, which are given in the new Forest Research Institute buildings at Dehra Dun, are supplemented by an extensive course of practical training in various parts of India. The arrangements for controlling and housing the students are unfortunately still defective but an estate adjoining the Research Institute has now been acquired and suitable quarters are being erected.

(c) Subordinate Services.

Except in Burma and Madras Rangers are trained at the Forest College, Dehra Dun, but for some years past the defects of centralized training have been manifest as, owing to the size of the classes, sufficient attention cannot be given to individual students. The inauguration in 1908 of an English course at the Burma Forest School and the opening of the Madras Forest College at Coimbatore in 1912 have had little effect in relieving the strain as, with additions to the staff, demands from other provinces have increased. As the present state of affairs is so unsatisfactory and as it is desirable that at Dehra Dun attention should be concentrated on the training of candidates for the Provincial Service, it has been decided to decentralize the training of Rangers. Arrangements to give effect to this decision are being made with Local Governments and Administrations and it is probable that within the next two years provincial schools will be started throughout India.

The training of subordinates below the rank of Ranger is carried out locally in forest schools and training classes.

Strength of the Staff.

5. During the quinquennium the increasing activities of the Department have rendered necessary considerable additions to the staff. The sanctioned strength of the Imperial Service increased from 205 to 214, and the actual strength from 196 to 237. In the case of the Provincial Service the sanctioned strength (excluding probationers) increased from 194 to 213 and the number employed from 160 to 197. In addition, 32 Probationary Extra Assistant Conservators were employed at the close of the quinquennium.

The appointment of Chief Conservator of Forests, Central Provinces, and a fourth Conservator for Madras were permanently added to the cadre in 1911, while the reorganization of the cadre in the United Provinces and a Chief Conservator for Bombay have been sanctioned since the 30th June 1914. Following the territorial changes made in 1912, the three forest circles of Bengal and Eastern Bengal and Assam were distributed over the three new provinces and a second Conservator was sanctioned for Assam. Considerable additions were made to the subordinate and clerical staffs in several provinces.

Conservation and improvement.

Fire-protection.

6. Fire-protective measures consist chiefly in maintaining cleared fire lines, external and internal, in organizing an efficient system of patrol, in enlisting the co-operation of the local population, in extinguishing any fires which may arise and in burning inflammable grass lands early in the season

During recent years the method of early burning has been extended experimentally to some Himalayan forests which are more than usually inflammable, and where regeneration operations are not in progress, and to areas in other parts of India in which the stock is not of sufficient value to justify the cost of complete protection.

Now that fire-protective measures have been carried out over considerable areas for several decades it is possible to come to some conclusion regarding their effect. In the majority of cases the forests have greatly benefited and there can be little doubt that in many types of forest the improvement that has occurred in the growing stock has been due mainly to the effects of fire-protection. At the same time, it must be admitted that in certain cases fire-protection, so far as the natural regeneration of the forests is concerned, has been decidedly harmful as the encouragement given to inferior species and weeds has wholly or partially prevented the survival of seedlings of the principal species. This result has been observed for some time past in the moister types of teak forest in Burma, and it is now generally recognized that in forests of this class fire-protection should be abandoned. Thus, during the last year of the quinquennium the area under protection in Burma has been reduced from 7,727 square miles to 4,548 square miles. It is doubtful, however, whether in teak forests of this class adequate reproduction can be secured merely by abandoning fire-protection and concentrated regeneration measures will probably alsc be required.

Another important example of the adverse effects of fire-protection on regeneration has recently come to light in the sâl forests of the Bengal and Assam Duars where continued protection has converted the undergrowth, which previously consisted largely of Savannah grasses, into a dense mass of evergreen shrubs and sau grass and has so affected the soil aeration that sâl seedlings entirely fail to establish themselves. Intensive weedings and experiments in cutting and burning the undergrowth have so far met with little or no success, and it is possible that clear felling and artificial regeneration with the aid of field crops may prove to be the only satisfactory method of ensuring the permanence of the sâl in these very valuable forests.

Among injuries from natural causes, local damage from storms, frost, snow and other agencies are of more or less regular occurrence, though no cases of special severity have been reported during the past few years. The abnormal drought caused by the partial failure of the monsoon in 1907 and 1908 had serious results and in the sâl forests of Oudh several lakhs of trees died. Investigations have shown that the death of these trees was due primarily to the lowering of the subsoil water-level following deficient rainfall, the mortality being most severe where there was a thick stratum of non-hygroscopic sand in the subsoil.

Diseases and Pests.

7. No light has yet been thrown on the cause of the mysterious spike disease which attacks the sandal tree, though this question is still under investigation. In Coorg alone, nearly 20,000 affected trees were uprooted during the past five years, and although the intensity of the disease has not been reduced, it has not spread to areas previously unaffected. Among dangerous fungoid pests in Himalayan forests may be mentioned Trametes Pini, which attacks the blue pine (Pinus excelsa), obtaining admission through wounds, particularly where lopping is practised, and Peridermium Cedri, a deodar needle fungus hitherto believed to be of little importance, but now known to be the cause of considerable damage in deodar plantations in Kulu. Recently a virulent fungus, not yet identified, has been found on the roots of the sâl in the Bengal and Assam Duars, and it seems probable that this fungus is largely responsible for the unusual mortality which has been noticed for some years past among the sâl trees of this tract. Steps are now being taken to investigate its life history and to devise, if possible, remedial measures.

Among the noxious weeds at present occupying the attention of the Forest Department, the most important is lantana, a shrub which was introduced from tropical America in the early part of last century and which spread so rapidly that for many years past it has covered extensive tracts in Southern India to the exclusion of nearly all other forms of vegetation. Energetic measures for the eradication of this weed have been commenced in Coorg, where during the past two years 4,408 acres have been cleared and 1,241 acres cleared of regrowth, at a cost of Rs. 39,134. A scheme for the systematic eradication of lantana has also been prepared, and the plant has been the subject of special legislation in the shape of the Coorg Noxious Weeds Regulation of 1914.

Insect pests continue to be studied by the Forest Zoologist, but no measures of control have yet been put into force, although these may possibly become necessary when more intensive sylvicultural operations are undertaken.

Grazing.

8. Forestry in India is closely connected with grazing, the intensity of which varies in different provinces, and as excessive grazing is harmful this question is unfortunately at times the cause of friction between the Forest Department and the people. In the Central Provinces and Berar, the sound policy has been adopted of granting liberal concessions in the case of cattle kept for agricultural purposes, higher fees being levied in other cases. In Madras, the grazing question became so acute that a special Forest Committee was appointed in 1912 to consider and report on this and kindred matters. The Committee recommended that forests in which scientific working and control are essential should be classified separately from those maintained primarily for the supply of village requirements and grazing, and that the latter should be placed under the control of village panchayats or local committees. Effect is now being given to this recommendation and it is hoped that the measures adopted will result in smoother working. In excluding goats from reserved forests, so far as possible, the Madras Government have adopted a policy which the Government of India desire to commend to the consideration of the Governments of those provinces where this destructive form of grazing is permitted.

Afforestation.

9. The afforestation of denuded hill-sides and ravine lands has received some attention during the past few years, particularly in the Punjab and the United Provinces.

The Government of the United Provinces in 1912 announced a definite policy of afforestation which provided for the reclamation of ravine lands and the formation of fuel and fodder reserves in the drier tracts of the plains, and to give effect to this policy an Afforestation Division has been constituted. A systematic survey of waste lands has been started in the Jhansi, Hamirpur, Jalaun and Etawah districts, and the work of reclamation and afforestation has already been taken in hand. These measures, which affect so closely the well-being of the agricultural population, may have far-reaching results, and their progress will be watched with interest.

Plantations.

10. Plantation work continues to progress in many provinces. In the Andamans mangrove plantations for the supply of fuel extend over 685 acres, while Para rubber plantations now aggregate 191½ acres. Some 550 trees planted in 1906 were tapped in 1913-14 and a sample of 158 lbs. of rubber was sent to London for sale where it realized Rs. 1-9-0 per lb. Padauk sowings on areas clear felled for the supply of fuel to the Settlement now cover 1,300 acres, while teak plantations, though of small extent, show considerable promise.

In Assam rubber plantations have now been in existence for many years and are still being extended, but seeing that the selling price of Ficus elastica is low it would appear desirable carefully to examine financial results before further extensions are carried out.

In the Punjab excellent progress has been made with the scheme for the formation of irrigated plantations for the supply of fuel in the Canal Colonies. These plantations when complete will cover 50,000 acres.

In Burma satisfactory progress has been made in the extension of teak taungya plantations. Doubts have been expressed as to the wisdom of extending these plantations, on the ground that the staff and labour necessary for their upkeep is insufficient, but although it may be admitted that plantations which cannot receive adequate attention are of little value, the fact remains that these plantations have demonstrated that teak can be successfully grown in this way. As the demand for teak is considerably in excess of the supply, every effort should be made to increase the outturn of this valuable timber, and the extension of teak plantations in Burma should therefore be continued. Many of the difficulties of control now experienced are due to the fact that small plantations are scattered over wide areas and the marked success which has been obtained in the Nilambur plantations in South Malabar shews what can be done when a well considered scheme is carried out.

Forest Management.

General.

11. Under the general declaration of policy made by the Government of India in 1894, the forests of India were broadly classed into (a) Forests the preservation of which is essential on climatic or physical grounds, (b) Forests which afford a supply of valuable timbers for commercial purposes, (c) Minor forests and (d) Pasture lands. The system of management depends upon the objects in view and necessarily varies with the class of the forest, so that while in classes (a), (c) and (d) simple rules are ordinarily sufficient, special treatment on scientific and economic lines is necessary in forests of the second class. The management of such forests requires carefully prepared working plans and as without such plans systematic management is impossible, their preparation becomes a matter of vital importance.

Working plans.

The progress made in the preparation of working plans during the past 25 years is shewn in the following statement:—

Period ending 30th June.	Area under working plans at end of last year of period.	Progress during the quinquennium.
	Square miles.	Square miles.
1889	912	...
1894	10,279	9,367
1899	21,620	11,341
1904	34,222	12,602
1909	48,104	13,882
1914	53,926	5,822

The progress made in the preparation of new working plans during the past five years is disappointing. It is true that existing plans have also to some extent been revised but the amount of revision work carried out does not account for the short outturn. Nor is it the case that plans have been compiled for the greater portion of the area for which they are required, since at the end of the year 1913-14 plans had only been prepared for 53,926 square miles out of 86,358 square miles for which they were required. Leaving out of account revision work, it may be said that in the United Provinces, Punjab and Bihar and Orissa plans have been prepared for the greater part of the forests for which they are required ; this work is well advanced in the Central Provinces ; less advanced in Bengal and Bombay ; and backward in Burma, Assam and Madras. In the latter provinces maps of the forests are not in all cases available ; but the main cause of the present state of affairs is the inadequacy of the trained staff and unless the staff is strengthened this difficulty will become more acute with the development of forest operations and the necessity for more intensive working, with the constant demands for revisions of existing working plans and, in provinces in which new reserves are being formed, with the increased demand for new plans. Apart from this, many of the areas which at present do not require plans will, as communications improve and new demands spring up, have to be brought under scientific management.

The Government of India desire to impress on Local Governments and Administrations the great importance of compiling plans with as little delay as possible for all areas for which they are required and they trust that in the next five years more substantial progress will be made. They recognise that without an adequate staff this cannot be done, but in recent reorganizations of provincial cadres provision has been made for special working plans officers and the necessity for this should not be overlooked when additions to the staff are considered.

Systems of management.

12. The following statement shows the areas and percentages under various methods of treatment in provinces other than Bombay and Madras :—

Method of treatment.	Area in square miles.		Percentage of total area under each method of treatment.
	1909-10.	1913-14.	1909-10.	1913-14.

(a) Includes forests for which working plans have been prepared but which are not under any definite system of working.
(b) Includes 14 square miles of reserves in Bengal which are not under the control of the Forest Department.
(c) Excludes 4 square miles worked experimentally in the Northern Circle, Central Provinces.

There has been no marked increase in the area under high forest systems involving concentrated fellings. Nevertheless in recent years the tendency has been to break away from the provisional methods of treatment known in India as selection or improvement fellings, in which measures for securing adequate regeneration are too often neglected, and to adopt more rational systems of management based on the sylvicultural requirements of the species and the regeneration of the normal area. This tendency is most marked in the United Provinces and the Punjab, where several working plans on improved lines are now under preparation. In Burma a system of working the teak forests by regenerative measures concentrated over definite areas was discussed at a Conference held in 1910, but so far little appears to have been done to give effect to the recommendation that in certain areas these improved methods should replace the method of selection fellings.

The substitution of improved systems of management for the provisional methods which have hitherto been followed is of great importance. The Government of India recognise that this can only gradually be brought about and that in many localities provisional methods must be continued for some time to come, but as experience is gained of the sylvicultural requirements of the species and of the best methods of treatment, more advanced systems of management will, it is hoped, be adopted.

Exploitation and Commercial Development.

Communications and buildings.

13. The successful working of the forests must depend largely upon the extent to which facilities for extraction are provided and a satisfactory feature of forest administration during the past five years has been the substantial amount spent upon this object. Numerous forest roads have been constructed, the use of tramways and ropeways has been extended and a great deal done in the erection of quarters for the subordinate staff and rest-houses for inspecting officers. On these objects seventy-five lakhs of rupees were spent during the quinquennium compared with about 53½ lakhs during the five years ending 1909. The use of mechanical transport in the extraction of forest produce is becoming more important each year and this question was considered by the Board of Forestry in 1913. The conclusion arrived at was that under Indian conditions monorails and road trains had not so far proved satisfactory, but that there was much scope for narrow-guage forest tramways and that experiments should be made with any other means of mechanical transport likely to cheapen extraction. Tramways are in use in the Andamans, in the Goalpara Division of Assam, in the Chakrata Division of the United Provinces, and in Burma, and in all cases considerable economy in transport has been effected, while an important scheme for the construction of a steam tramway in the Ramnagar and Lansdowne Divisions of the United Provinces is now being considered. In Burma skidders are being successfully used to extract logs from the forests and from river beds. Another important work of this class in that province is the Wegyi boom which is designed to catch logs while the stream is in high flood, the logs being then conveyed to the railway by the help of slipways, gantries, winches and short lengths of tramline. The installation has cost Rs. 2,26,027, and although on the whole it has worked well, many difficulties have been experienced and it is doubtful whether it will be permanently maintained in its present form.

To provide the necessary expert advice a Forest Engineer was appointed in 1913 for two years, and he has been engaged on various projects in the United Provinces, the Andamans and Burma. But with the inevitable extension in the use of mechanical appliances for extraction and transport one Engineer for the whole of India will be insufficient and there can be little doubt that in course of time the major provinces will require special Engineers of their own.

Agency of extraction.

14. The question of the agency by which forest produce should be extracted has given rise to considerable discussion in the past and although certain general principles may be laid down, the form of agency most suitable to any particular province or area must necessarily depend upon local conditions.

In forest administration the object in view is two-fold—first, to conserve and improve the forests, and this is the first concern of the trained staff, and secondly, to secure to the tax-payer the greatest immediate benefit from their commercial working. To obtain the best commercial results departmental or private agency should be employed as circumstances dictate and provided always that Government receives a fair share of the profits earned private agency should be freely employed. But when this is done the term of the contract should on the one hand be sufficiently long to enable the initial outlay to be recovered, while on the other hand provision should invariably be made for a revision of the rates of royalty at stated intervals so that Government may not be deprived of its fair share of any rise in prices which may take place. Should it be found impossible to employ private agency on these terms, departmental working should be adopted and if this cannot be undertaken by the trained staff without prejudice to its work of conservation and improvement, there seems to be no reason why a separate staff specially trained in commercial exploitation should not be employed. At times, indeed, departmental working is essential as, for instance, in the extraction of little known timbers or other products for which it is desired to create a market, when for any reason the system of extraction by purchasers breaks down, or when it becomes necessary to prevent trade manipulation or the creation of a monopoly.

Having regard to these general principles, which in their opinion should govern the decision as to the form of agency to be employed, the Government of India are inclined to believe that in some parts of India departmental agency might perhaps be profitably employed more extensively than at present.

Commercial development.

15. In recent years there has been a noticeable increase in the demand for forest products and several industries dependent on their supply have been or are about to be started. One of the most important of these is the utilization of bamboos, savannah grasses and firwood for the manufacture of paper-pulp, and to assist the development of this industry a special expert has been employed. With the assistance of the Titaghur Paper Mills Company, Limited, trials in the manufacture of bamboo pulp have been carried out successfully on a commercial scale, and concessions for the extraction of bamboos have been granted to two firms in Burma and Bengal. The outbreak of war has delayed the commencement of manufacture but as large supplies of the raw material are available the outlook is distinctly promising. In the Punjab a concession for the extraction of spruce and silver fir from the Kulu forests for the manufacture of wood pulp has been granted. Matters are less advanced as regards the grass pulp industry, but this is being seriously considered. In the United Provinces and Assam enormous quantities of suitable grasses are available and if trials on a commercial scale be successful an important industry may be established.

The extraction of tanning materials has received attention for some time past, particularly in the matter of obtaining a satisfactory extract from the bark of mangroves. For this purpose a factory was established several years ago at Rangoon, but owing to the want of expert supervision was not very successful. In order to test the possibility of producing extracts of good quality on a commercial scale the services of a Tannin Expert have been obtained and he will probably reach India shortly bringing with him a small portable plant. The forests of India contain many valuable tanning materials other than mangrove bark. The possibility of utilizing these will be examined by the Expert and his appointment may result in the establishment of a new and important industry.

During recent years much has been done to stimulate the local manufacture of matches, tests with numerous Indian woods have been carried out and a report regarding their suitability and the prospects of this industry has been issued. Several match factories on modern lines have been established, and if a sufficient supply of match woods of good quality can be assured, there is no reason why the industry should not grow rapidly. The regular and cheap supply of suitable wood is, however, a real difficulty, and the establishment of special plantations is a matter deserving the attention of Local Governments.

The tea-box industry has received special attention in Assam, where it absorbs a considerable portion of the outturn of the forests, and has steadily grown, especially in the Assam Valley. The Local Administration has [illegible] measures for the protection of timbers used for tea-boxes, and by forming experimental plantations of simal.

Large quantities of sleepers have always been obtained by the Indian railways from the forests in this country, but as the supply of first class sleeper woods such as sál and deodar is limited, experiments in the antiseptic treatment of less durable timbers have been in progress for some years past. The Indian forests contain many timbers which, so far as structural qualities are concerned, are at least the equal of imported sleeper woods, and these, if treated antiseptically, should go far to meet the demands of the Indian railways. The best and most economical method of treatment has not yet been determined but experiments are being carried out. Arrangements, however, have already been made with the Railway Board for the delivery of a large number of treated chir pine sleepers from the forests of the United Provinces while a similar supply of Gurjan sleepers from the Andamans is under consideration.

Another important forest industry in which, under departmental management, marked progress has been made is the manufacture of rosin and turpentine from crude resin obtained by tapping pine trees in the Himalayan forests. In the Punjab and the United Provinces new distilleries have been erected and in 1913-14 these turned out 27,429 maunds of rosin and 58,803 gallons of turpentine compared with 6,584 maunds of rosin and 14,604 gallons of turpentine ten years earlier. The Indian demand for these products, which are largely used in the manufacture of paper, paints and varnishes, is considerable and the local outturn has already affected imports from other countries. In the Punjab a modern plant has been erected near Lahore and a large increase in the outturn is also expected in the United Provinces. It is not too much to expect that a considerable portion of the Indian demand for rosin and turpentine will soon be met by the Department.

This account of the improved methods of extraction now adopted and of the new industries which have been started is sufficient evidence that the officers of the Department are fully alive to the importance of the commercial development of the forests and that they now recognise that efforts to secure commercial success are as much a part of their duties as the scientific management of the forest property entrusted to their care.

Grass operations.

16. In times of famine or fodder scarcity grass operations form an important part of the work of the Forest Department, especially in Bombay, the Central Provinces, the United Provinces and Madras. In the past few years very large quantities of grass have been sent from the forests of the two first named provinces to the Deccan districts of Bombay, and in 1911-12 famine areas in Gujerat were supplied with grass from the United Provinces. In the famine of 1913-14 the serious shortage of fodder in the affected areas of the United Provinces was made good from the local forests and from the Central Provinces.

Financial Results.

17. The following statement shows the growth of forest revenue and expenditure during the past 50 years, the figures in all cases being the annual averages of the quinquennial periods. Further details will be found in the statements* appended to this review:—

* Not published in the Gazette.

Progress has been continuous and it is a striking fact that within 50 years the surplus has increased nearly ten-fold. Even allowing for the rise in the prices of forest produce this is highly satisfactory, and it is to be remembered not only that a substantial portion of the annual expenditure is absorbed by the cost of research and of sylvicultural work for which no immediate return can be expected, but also that all capital expenditure is met from revenue. There is, too, the fact that each year large quantities of forest produce are given free or removed by right-holders. The average annual value of the produce so removed is over 62 lakhs of rupees, but this is a rough estimate only and does not represent the amount which would have been realized had the produce been sold.

Both in 1912-13 and in 1913-14 the surplus was over a million pounds sterling, and it may be anticipated with some confidence that in the near future this figure will be exceeded. With the steady protection of past years the value of the forest property has increased; with the construction of new roads and the adoption of mechanical means of transport extraction is being extended and cheapened; new and profitable industries are springing up; and with the adoption of more concentrated systems of management an increased outturn will be obtained.

Prior to the 1st April 1911 forest revenue and expenditure in the major provinces were shared equally between Imperial and Provincial, but in the minor provinces were wholly Imperial. In consequence of the recommendations made by the Royal Commission upon Decentralization, the terms of provincial settlements were altered with effect from the date mentioned, and revenue and expenditure were in the major provinces wholly provincialized. In the North-West Frontier Province forest revenue is Provincial while the expenditure is half Imperial and half Provincial. In the other minor provinces (Coorg, Ajmer, Baluchistan and the Andamans) both revenue and expenditure are Imperial.

Research.

General.

18. The Forest Research Institute at Dehra Dun was established in 1906, but for several years work was hampered by want of accommodation. The new buildings were completed in 1914 at a cost of over two and a quarter lakhs of rupees and consist of a main block containing museums and offices and a number of subsidiary buildings, chiefly laboratories.

The Institute, which is under the administrative control of the Inspector General of Forests, is in charge of the President, Mr. L. Mercer, C. I. E., and contains five main sections each in charge of a research officer, the branches of work being sylviculture, forest botany, economic products, zoology and chemistry.

Sylviculture.

19. The work of the Sylviculturist comprises a study of the requirements of the more important trees, the collection of statistics relating to the rate of growth of trees and the volume production of typical crops, as well as investigations regarding improved systems of management. The sál (Shorea robusta) and the chir (Pinus longifolia) are the principal species which have been studied, and a monograph on the latter is now in the Press, while the question of sál regeneration is being studied in most of the important sál tracts of India. In addition the Sylviculturist is associated with local officers in the preparation of working plans on improved lines and has carried out many other investigations. Among the subjects dealt with may be mentioned experiments to ascertain the best rotation on which to work bamboos, the collection of statistics in the eucalyptus plantations of the Nilgiris, the causes and effects of the drought of 1907 and 1908 in the sál forests of the United Provinces and the results of continued fire-protection on the regeneration of sál in the forests of the Duars. Statistical work, which in connection with sylviculture has an important bearing on the future management of the forests to the best advantage, was taken up systematically in 1910-11. The results cannot be fully apparent for some time to come, but the value of the work is being realized in India, and in several provinces the need for special officers has been felt. In Burma one such officer is already employed on this work; in the United Provinces a post of Sylviculturist has been sanctioned; and in Assam and Bihar and Orissa a similar proposal is under consideration.

A beginning has been made in the formation of a sylvicultural museum worthy of the Research Institute. The photographic branch of the Research Institute is in charge of the Sylviculturist, and large additions to the collection have been made during the past few years.

20. The work of the Forest Botanist comprises systematic botany, the study of forest grasses, the oecology of important species and the diseases of trees. Under the head of systematic botany the work done has included the special study of important genera, the identification of specimens for forest officers, the measures taken for the preparation of descriptive lists and local floras and the upkeep of the Dehra Dun herbarium. Complete floras scientifically compiled are desirable, but for the present simple descriptive lists which will enable forest officers to identify trees and shrubs not by minute botanical features but by easily recognised field characters are all that is necessary. A scheme for their preparation on these lines was approved by the Board of Forestry in 1913 and the work is in progress in most provinces.

Forest Botany.

The herbarium has grown considerably, partly by the incorporation of the valuable Saharanpur collection in 1908 and partly by the accumulation of new specimens. In this connection mention may be made of two new species (Albizzia Lathami and Spodiopogon Lacei) which have been discovered and named after two officers of the Department. Special attention has been paid to forest grasses, as it is desirable not only to increase the commercial exploitation of the valuable kinds but also to afforest the extensive and less valuable grass tracts. It has been shewn that fifteen widely distributed species can be utilized for the manufacture of paper pulp.

In oecological work attention has been mainly devoted to the study of the sâl tree, with special reference to the cause of the dying back of seedlings, while in connection with diseases the most important work of the Botanist has been the study of the disease of Pinus excelsa caused by the fungus Trametes Pini.

21. The activities of the Forest Economist have covered a very wide field. An enquiry into the properties and uses of sál timber has been completed with the exception of the portion dealing with tests of strength. The antiseptic treatment of Indian timbers is being investigated and in connection with the utilization of bamboos for the manufacture of paper pulp, to which reference has already been made, a report on the supplies available and on local conditions has been issued.

Economic Products.

The utilization of Indian timbers for industrial purposes has received attention and the suitability of woods for such purposes as matches, pencils, cement blocks, paving blocks, railway wagons, etc., has been studied. Among minor products, inquiries were carried out in connection with tan barks, gums, resins, oleo-resins, oil seeds, oil grasses and fibres.

The museum of forest economic products, which was started in 1881 by Sir Dietrich Brandis, has been steadily enlarged and is now housed in the new Institute at Dehra Dun.

22. During the past five years the post of Forest Zoologist has been held by four officers, and work has in consequence suffered, but recently progress has been good. The pests of sál, teak, and Pinus longifolia have been investigated, over 120 life histories having been studied in connection with these trees alone.

Forest Zoology.

A study of the teak bee-hole borer, Duomitus ceramicus, Walk, was commenced in Burma, and other borers have also been identified, some of which are likely to prove of importance. A special study of the lac insect and of the parasites of Butea lac has been in progress, and a revision of the life history of Tachardia lacca will shortly be published by Dr. Imms. The entomological collection has rapidly increased, and over four thousand species have been added during the past few years.

Forest Chemistry.

23. The Chemical Adviser works in close touch with other research officers, especially with the Forest Economist. Among the chief investigations taken up may be mentioned the determination of tannin values of barks and other products, the distillation of oil from oil grasses, from pine needles and from deodar waste, the extraction of saleable products from the gum resin of Boswellia serrata and the improvement and standardization of Indian turpentine and rosin.

Forest literature.

24. A list of publications issued by the Forest Research Institute during the period 1909-10 to 1913-14 is given in appended Statement XX.*

Relation between forests and the retention of atmospheric and soil moisture.

25. An enquiry into the effect of forests on the retention of atmospheric and soil moisture has been carried out. A large mass of evidence was collected and the conclusions arrived at, briefly summarized, were as follows:—So far as India is concerned, sufficient data are not available to enable any definite opinion to be formed regarding the influence of forests on the actual rainfall, but the denudation of the soil resulting from the destruction of forest vegetation may be looked on as an established fact. Asr egards the effect of forest preservation on the run-off of rain water and the underground water supply, sufficient evidence is not forthcoming to justify any change in the principles on which the forest policy of Government has hitherto been based. At the same time useful results might be obtained if meteorological stations were established where local differences in the rainfall, temperature and humidity inside and outside forest areas would be recorded. It is also important that adequate measures, where necessary, should be taken to prevent the destruction of forests on areas liable to denudation.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

FOREIGN COMMERCE.

FOREIGN SEA-BORNE TRADE DURING JUNE 1915.

The trade returns of British India for June 1915, as compared with those of its immediate predecessor, showed increases in total imports as well as in total exports. Almost all the main groups of articles under imports and exports showed an increase, with the exception of exports of manufactured articles. The growth in trade noticed in the returns for May has been well maintained, and the trade outlook, as foreshadowed in those returns, is satisfactory and re-assuring. The total imports of merchandise were valued at R10,40 lakhs, exports at R17,72 lakhs (inclusive of R3,24 lakhs being the value of wheat exported on Government account) and re-exports at R42 lakhs. The increase as compared with May 1915 was 10 per cent in imports, 15 per cent in exports, and 31 per cent in re-exports. The percentage of net exports* to total exports was 40 in May 1915, and 43 in June 1915. The statement below shows the figures of imports, exports, and re-exports during May and June of the years 1912, 1913, and 1914, and the percentage of net exports* to total exports during the same period:—

	1912		1913		1914		Percentage of net exports * to total exports
	Imports	Exports including re-exports	Imports	Exports including re-exports	Imports	Exports including re-exports	1912	1913	1914

May . .	11,63	21,14	14,31	19,68	13,59	21,39	45	27	36
June . .	10,47	20,59	12,22	17,89	12,68	21,83	49	32	42

As compared with May 1915, the most noticeable increases in June under imports were in cotton grey piece goods (+R38 lakhs), and white piece goods (+R23 lakhs), sugar 16 D. S. and above (+R28 lakhs), railway engines and tenders (+R7 lakhs), and salt (+R5 lakhs), while cotton yarn and railway carriages declined by R5 lakhs each, and textile machinery and matches by R3 lakhs each. Under exports the principal increases were in wheat, including exports on Government account (+R2,35 lakhs), tea (+R40 lakhs), hides and skins, raw (+R30 lakhs), raw cotton (+R34 lakhs), jute cloth (+R18 lakhs), and raw wool (+R14 lakhs), but there were important decreases in raw jute (—R63 lakhs), jute bags (—R31 lakhs), cotton twist (—R25 lakhs), and coffee (—R14 lakhs).

As compared with June 1914, there was a decrease of 18 per cent in imports and 17 per cent in exports, while re-exports showed an increase of 5 per cent. Under imports, the important increases were in sugar 16 D.S. and above (+R49 lakhs), and cotton piece goods, grey (+R15 lakhs), while the principal decreases were in railway plant and rolling stock (—R76 lakhs), cotton coloured piece goods (—R46 lakhs), copper, wrought (—R29 lakhs), hardware (—R13 lakhs), iron and steel (—R24 lakhs) and cotton yarn (—R12 lakhs). Under exports, the noticeable increases were in wheat, including exports on Government account (+R195 lakhs), jute goods (+R24 lakhs), and hides and skins, raw and dressed (+R19 lakhs). The greatest decrease was noticed in raw cotton (—R4,46 lakhs). Other principal articles showing decreases were seeds (—R99 lakhs), raw jute (—R32 lakhs), cotton twist and yarn (—R19 lakhs), coffee (—R17 lakhs), and jawar and bajra (—R14 lakhs).

COMPARISONS WITH THE IMPORTS AND EXPORTS OF JUNE 1914.

HEAVY IMPORTS OF SUGAR FROM JAVA AND MAURITIUS.

In June 1915, as compared with June 1914, imports of food, drink, and tobacco increased by R44 lakhs, mainly due to the heavy imports of sugar 16 D. S. and above from Java and Mauritius. The total quantity imported was more than double that of last year, rising from 178,000 cwts to 389,000 cwts, while the value rose from R16 to R65 lakhs, indicating an increase of about 83 per cent in the declared value.

A DECREASE IN IMPORTS OF COAL AND SILK, RAW.

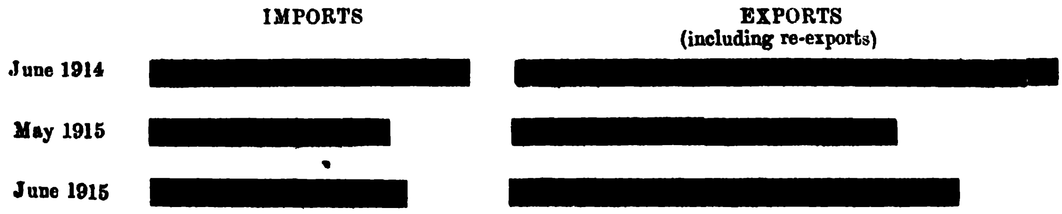
Raw materials and produce imported declined by R12 lakhs, of which R4 lakhs were in coal, and R4 lakhs in raw silk, and R3 lakhs in wood (timber).

A DECREASE IN IMPORTS OF MANUFACTURED ARTICLES.

Imports of manufactured articles declined by R2,53 lakhs. Almost all the principal articles showed decreases. Cotton grey piece goods increased by R15 lakhs, cement by R3½ lakhs, and chemicals, matches, and tea-chests were also marked with slight increases. The most important decreases were in railway plant and rolling-stock (—R76 lakhs), copper, wrought (—R29 lakhs), cotton piecegoods, coloured, printed, or dyed (—R46 lakhs), machinery and millwork (—R20 lakhs), cotton yarn (—R12 lakhs), hardware (—R13 lakhs), iron or steel, sheets and plates (—R12 lakhs).

AN ADVANCE IN EXPORTS OF FOOD STUFFS.

Exports of food, drink, and tobacco increased by R1,92 lakhs, mainly due to heavy shipments of wheat (on Government account) and also of tea. Wheat shipped on private account amounted to 41,933 tons, valued at R54 lakhs, and on Government account to 249,953 tons worth R3,24 lakhs, the total of wheat shipped both on private and Government account was more by R1,95 lakhs than in 1914. Shipments of rice not in the husk increased from 2,297,000 cwts to 2,683,000 cwts. There were no shipments of rice to Germany, Holland, Belgium, Austria-Hungary and Roumania, while Russia imported 224,000 cwts, Sweden 110,000 cwts, and France 30,000 cwts. Exports to the West Indies increased from 60,000 cwts to 253,000 cwts. The value of the exports of tea increased by R11 lakhs, but the quantity exported rose by 121,000 lbs only, which indicated a rise in prices.



A HEAVY DECLINE IN THE EXPORTS OF COTTON (RAW) AND SEEDS.

Raw materials exported declined by R5,70 lakhs, cotton (raw) and seeds being mainly responsible for the decrease. The quantity of cotton (raw) exported (991,295 cwts) was almost half the amount shipped in June 1914, but the value was reduced from R7 crores to a little over R2¼ crores, indicating a decline of 30 per cent in the declared value. All European countries took less, while Japan increased her imports by 11,449 cwts. The quantity of seeds exported (1,148,721 cwts) was approximately half the amount shipped last year, and the value declined by R98¾ lakhs to R79½ lakhs. Shipments of jute (raw) increased from 21,631 tons to 28,355 tons, but the value declined from R89 lakhs to R57 lakhs, the decline in the declared value being one of 51 per cent.

AN INCREASE IN THE EXPORTS OF MANUFACTURED ARTICLES.

Exports of manufactured articles increased by R8 lakhs, due mainly to larger shipments of jute goods (+R24 lakhs) and tanned hides (+R19 lakhs), while cotton twist and yarn fell by R19 lakhs.

The following diagrams illustrate the relative magnitude of the import and export trade in merchandise for May and June 1915 and June 1914:—

RAILWAY STATISTICS.

Railway statistics, like the import and export statistics above, are a valuable indication of the general movement of business throughout the country, and they show that the earnings from 1st April to 3rd July 1915 were R16·78 crores as against R17·15 crores in the corresponding period of 1914. Approximately R6 crores were earned in the five weeks ending the 3rd July 1915, a decrease of about R19 lakhs as against the figures of the corresponding period last year.

DEPARTMENT OF STATISTICS, INDIA.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN SELECTED ARTICLES IN APRIL 1915.

The object of the tables below is to show the quantities of the principal staples of agricultural produce imported from the various provinces, etc., and from foreign countries into the ports of Calcutta, Bombay, Karachi, and the Madras ports during the month of April 1915, as compared with the corresponding month of 1914. The statistics include foreign seaborne and coasting trade as well as inland (rail and riverborne) trade. They have been furnished by Collectors of Customs, Steamer Companies, Railway Audit Officers, the Commissioners for the Port of Calcutta, etc.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN APRIL 1914 AND 1915.

It will be seen from Table I, that the imports by rail, river and sea in April 1915, as against the corresponding month of 1914 show (in round numbers) a fall of—

62 per cent in linseed.
(26,900 tons as against 71,800 tons last year.)
26 per cent in rape and mustard seed.
(25,600 tons as against 34,600 tons last year.)
3 per cent in raw cotton.
(112,400 tons as against 115,600 tons last year.)
2 per cent in tea.
(900 tons as against 1,000 tons last year.)

The imports of wheat (excluding wheat flour) by rail, river and sea into ports show an increase of 149 per cent (100,300 tons as against 40,300 tons last year) due to larger receipts from the United Provinces, Rajputana and Central India, Bombay and the Central Provinces and Berar. The increase of 130 per cent (80,800 tons as against 35,000 tons last year) in the imports of jute into Calcutta is due to larger exports from Assam, Bengal and Bihar and Orissa. The imports of rice into ports represent an increase of 97 per cent (216,900 tons as against 109,900 tons last year) owing to larger exports from Burma to Calcutta and Madras ports. The excess in the imports of gram and pulse by 27 per cent (46,800 tons as against 36,900 tons last year) is due to heavy despatches from the United Provinces, the Punjab, Bombay and the Central Provinces and Berar.

It will be seen from Table III (wheat excluding wheat flour) that the principal sources of the imports in April 1914 were (in order of importance) the United Provinces, the Punjab, the Central Provinces and Berar, and Rajputana and Central India. During the corresponding month of 1915 the United Provinces sent by far the largest quantity, viz., 54 per cent of the total. Table X shows the exports out of India of wheat (including wheat flour) month by month during the last four years.

TRADE FLUCTUATIONS IN APRIL 1915 AS COMPARED WITH THE PREVIOUS MONTH.

As compared with March 1915, the imports in April 1915 into the ports referred to above show (in round numbers) an increase of—

176 per cent in wheat (excluding wheat flour).
(100,300 tons as against 36,300 tons previous month.)
126 per cent in linseed.
(26,900 tons as against 11,900 tons previous month.)
102 per cent in tea.
(900 tons as against 500 tons previous month.)
49 per cent in rice.
(216,900 tons as against 145,100 tons previous month.)
31 per cent in gram and pulse.
(46,800 tons as against 35,700 tons previous month.)
12 per cent in rape and mustard seed.
(25,600 tons as against 22,900 tons previous month.)
10 per cent in jute.
(80,800 tons as against 73,600 tons previous month.)

and a decrease of—

13 per cent in raw cotton.
(112,400 tons as against 129,800 tons previous month.)

The Statistics for the month of April 1915 are summarised below:—

Delhi, the 25th March 1915.

No. 571-W.—In continuation of the Notification by the Government of India in the Foreign and Political Department No. 91-W., dated the 14th January 1915, the following papers having been presented to both Houses of Parliament by Command of His Majesty are published for general information :—

LETTER OF JULY 31, 1914, FROM THE PRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC TO THE KING RESPECTING THE EUROPEAN CRISIS, AND HIS MAJESTY'S REPLY OF AUGUST 1, 1914.

No. 1.

THE PRESIDENT OF THE FRENCH REPUBLIC TO THE KING.

Paris, le 31 juillet, 1914.

Cher et grand Ami,

DANS les circonstances graves que traverse l'Europe, je crois devoir communiquer à votre Majesté les renseignements que le Gouvernement de la République a reçus d'Allemagne. Les préparatifs militaires auxquels se livre le Gouvernement Impérial, notamment dans le voisinage immédiat de la frontière française, prennent chaque jour une intensité et une accélération nouvelles. La France, résolue à faire jusqu'au bout tout ce qui dépendra d'elle pour maintenir la paix, s'est bornée jusqu'ici aux mesures de précaution les plus indispensables. Mais il ne semble pas que sa prudence et sa modération ralentissent les dispositions de l'Allemagne ; loin de là. Nous sommes donc, peut-être, malgré la sagesse du Gouvernement de la République et le calme de l'opinion, à la veille des événements les plus redoutables.

(Translation.)

Paris, July 31, 1914.

Dear and great Friend,

IN the grave events through which Europe is passing, I feel bound to convey to your Majesty the information which the Government of the Republic have received from Germany. The military preparations which are being undertaken by the Imperial Government, especially in the immediate neighbourhood of the French froutier, are being pushed forward every day with fresh vigour and speed. France, resolved to continue to the every end to do all that lies within her power to maintain peace, has, up to the present, confined herself solely to the most indispensable precautionary measures. But it does not appear that her prudence and moderation serve to check Germany's action; indeed, quite the reverse. We are, perhaps, then, in spite of the moderation of the Government of the Republic and the calm of public opinion, on the eve of the most terrible events.

De toutes les informations qui nous arrivent, il résulte que si l'Allemagne avait la certitude que le Gouvernement anglais n'interviendrait pas dans un conflit où la France serait engagée, la guerre serait inévitable, et qu'en revanche, si l'Allemagne avait la certitude que l'entente cordiale s'affirmerait, le cas échéant, jusque sur les champs de bataille, il y aurait les plus grandes chances pour que la paix ne fût pas troublée.

Sans doute nos accords militaires et navals laissent entière la liberté du Gouvernement de votre Majesté, et, dans les lettres échangées en 1912 entre Sir Edward Grey et M. Paul Cambon, l'Angleterre et la France se sent simplement engagées, l'une vis-à-vis de l'autre, a causer entre elles en cas de tension européenne et à examiner ensemble s'il y avait lieu à une action commune. Mais le caractère d'intimité que le sentiment public a donné, dans les deux pays, à l'entente de l'Angleterre et de la France, la confiance avec laquelle nos deux Gouvernements n'ont cessé de travailler au maintien de la paix, les sympathies que votre Majesté a toujours témoignées à la France, m'autorisent à lui faire connaître, en toute franchise, mes impressions, qui sont celles du Gouvernement de la République et de la France entière.

C'est, je crois, du langage et de la conduite du Gouvernement anglais que dépendent désormais les dernières possibilités d'une solution pacifique.

Nous avons nous-mêmes, dès le début de la crise, recommandé à nos Alliés une modération, dont ils ne se sont pas départis. D'accord avec le Gouvernement Royal et conformément aux dernières suggestions de Sir E. Grey, nous continuerons à agir dans le même sens.

Mais si tous les efforts de conciliation partent du même côté, et si l'Allemagne et l'Autriche peuvent spéculer sur l'abstention de l'Angleterre, les exigences de l'Autriche demeureront inflexibles et un accord deviendra impossible entre la Russie et elle. J'ai la conviction profonde qu'à l'heure actuelle, plus l'Angleterre, la France et la Russie donneront une forte impression d'unité dans leur action diplomatique, plus il sera encore permis de compter sur la conservation de la paix.

Votre Majesté voudra bien excuser une démarche qui n'est inspirée que par le désir de voir l'equilibre européen définitivement raffermi.

Je prie votre Majesté de croire à mes sentiment les plus Cordiaux.

R. POINCARÉ

From all the information which reaches us, it would seem that war would be inevitable if Germany were convinced that the British Government would not intervene in a conflict in which France might be engaged; if, on the other hand, Germany were convinced that the entente cordiale would be affirmed, in case of need, even to the extent of taking the field side by side, there would be the greatest chance that peace would remain unbroken.

It is true that our military and naval arrangements leave complete liberty to your Majesty's Government, and that, in the letters exchanged in 1912 between Sir Edward Grey and M. Paul Cambon, Great Britain and France entered into nothing more than a mutual agreement to consult one another in the event of European tension, and to examine in concert whether common action were advisable.

But the character of close friendship which public feeling has given in both countries to the entente between Great Britain and France, the confidence with which our two Governments have never ceased to work for the maintenance of peace, and the signs of sympathy which your Majesty has ever shown to France, justify me in informing you quite frankly of my impressions, which are those of the Government of the Republic and of all France.

It is, I consider, on the language and the action of the British Government that henceforward the last chances of a peaceful settlement depend.

We, ourselves, from the initial stages of the crisis, have enjoined upon our Ally an attitude of moderation from which they have not swerved. In concert with Your Majesty's Government, and in conformity with Sir E. Grey's latest suggestions, we will continue to act on the same lines.

But if all efforts at conciliation emanate from one side, and if Germany and Austria can speculate on the abstention of Great Britain, Austria's demands will remain inflexible, and an agreement between her and Russia will become impossible. I am profoundly convinced that at the present moment the more Great Britain, France, and Russia can give a deep impression that they are united in their diplomatic action, the more possible will it be to count upon the preservation of peace.

I beg that your Majesty will excuse a step which is only inspired by the hope of seeing the European balance of power definitely reaffirmed.

Pray accept the expression of my most cordial sentiments.

. POINCARÉ.

No. 2.

The King to the President of the French Republic.

Dear and great Friend, Buckingham Palace, August 1, 1914.

I most highly appreciate the sentiments which moved you to write to me in so cordial and friendly a spirit, and I am grateful to you for having stated your views so fully and frankly.

You may be assured that the present situation in Europe has been the cause of much anxiety and preoccupation to me, and I am glad to think that our two Governments have worked so amicably together in endeavouring to find a peaceful solution of the questions at issue.

It would be a source of real satisfaction to me if our united efforts were to meet with success, and I am still not without hope that the terrible events which seem so near may be averted.

I admire the restraint which you and your Government are exercising in refraining from taking undue military measures on the frontier, and not adopting an attitude which could in any wise be interpreted as a provocative one.

I am personally using my best endeavours with the Emperors of Russia and of Germany towards finding some solution by which actual military operations may at any rate be postponed, and time be thus given for calm discussion between the Powers. I intend to prosecute these efforts without intermission so long as any hope remains of an amicable settlement.

As to the attitude of my country, events are changing so rapidly that it is difficult to forecast future developments; but you may be assured that my Government will continue to discuss freely and frankly any point which might arise of interest to our two nations with M. Cambon.

Believe me,
M. le Président,
GEORGE R. I.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 24th July 1915.

Burma.—The rainfall was general in Lower Burma and ample and well distributed in Upper Burma In the dry zone the fall was seasonable in the majority of districts. Cultivation of winter rice crop is proceeding normally and progress with miscellaneous crops in Upper Burma is promising. Standing crops are generally doing well. Cattle are healthy. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon is still much above normal.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable. Floods have now subsided but paddy and jute crops have been damaged in places. Plucking and manufacture of tea continue. Ploughing of land for winter rice and harvesting of jute and autumn rice are in progress. Scanty rain is delaying the transplantation of winter rice in parts of the Assam Valley. Prospects of tea are fair to good, of paddy moderate to poor and of jute and sugarcane poors. Some damage to transplanted winter rice by insect pests is reported from the Sibsagar district. The price of common rice has risen slightly. Cattle disease is reported in seven districts. Fodder is reported to be scarce in four districts.

Bengal.—During the week heavy rain fell in the Chittagong district and in parts of the Darjeeling district. The fall was generally light to moderate elsewhere. More rain is still wanted specially in the western Bengal districts. Transplantation of winter rice is in full swing throughout the Province Harvesting of jute and of autumn paddy is continuing in the eastern districts and has commenced in some of the western districts also. Prospects of standing crops are generally fair to good. Damage to paddy and jute by insect pests is reported from parts of the 24-Parganas, Murshidabad, Jessore and Howrah. Cattle disease is reported from eleven districts. The average price of common rice has remained almost stationary with a slight tendency to fall as compared with that of the previous week. The daily average of persons employed on relief works in Tippera and Noakhali during the week ending 24th July amounted to 658 and 1,608, respectively. The total number of persons in receipt of gratuitous relief in Noakhali during the week was 38,623.

Bihar and Orissa.—During the week general rain fell over the Province and the fall was generally light to moderate It was heavy in Ranchi, Manbhum, Muzaffarpur and Angul. The recent rainfall has facilitated transplantation of paddy and has benefited the standing crops. More rain is, however, urgently wanted for transplantation of paddy in Orissa and in some districts of Bihar and Chota Nagpur Standing crops are, on the whole, doing well but the long drought has affected paddy seedlings on high lands in Angul, Puri and in some parts of Ranchi. The price of common rice has risen as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. The average daily attendance on test works in the district of Balasore was 91 in Basudebpur and 24 in Soro. The condition of standing crops is fair in the Feudatory States of Orissa but more rain is badly wanted for paddy seedlings and also for transplantation operations.

United Provinces.—Rain has fallen in the whole of the Provinces but some districts especially in the western submontane and in the central Doab still require more rain. Standing crops though slightly damaged by locusts in four districts are doing well. Weeding of autumn crops have commenced in places. Prospects are satisfactory. Agricultural stock is in good condition though cattle disease continues in a few villages. Food, fodder and water are ample. Markets are full and the rise in prices is not appreciable.

Punjab.—The rainfall was moderate in parts of the southeastern and submontane districts. In other districts except Ferozepore and Lahore only slight showers were received. The rainfall was beneficial for standing crops but was generally insufficient for unirrigated sowings. More rain is badly wanted. Sowings of cotton, fodder and other autumn crops continue and are generally below normal on irrigated and much restricted on unirrigated areas. The condition of standing irrigated crops is average to good and of unirrigated crops below average. Grasshoppers have done much damage to the sown crops in many districts. Cattle are healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation are sufficient. Prices are stationary or are fluctuating and in the case of spring food grains they range between normal and warning rates and in other cases between warning and scarcity rates or above scarcity rates. Price of wheat:—Ambala, Lahore, Rawalpindi and Lyallpur 9½ and Ferozepore 9¾ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—During the week slight rain fell in some places. The weather is very hot. Rain is urgently required in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of crops is average in Peshawar and Dera Ismail Khan and good to average in Allotment-Certificates.

9. To each applicant (or to his agent) whose application is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued as soon as possible after the 17th August and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted for general information at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay.

The allotment-certificates will be issued by the Accountants General and Comptrollers named in clause 3 of this Notification in the case of applications payable in any Treasury or Head Office or Branch of a Presidency Bank in the area subject to their control, and by the Controller of Currency in the case of applications payable elsewhere. In the case of applications made through a Presidency Bank or one of its Branches the allotment-certificates will be issued through such Bank or Branch.

10. 11. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the application in respect of which the allotment-certificate was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by enfacement upon the relative certificate.

12. When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, Promissory Notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs. 100), bearing interest from the 1st December 1915; he will also receive interest at the rate of 4 per cent. per annum up to the 30th November 1915, commencing from the 17th August in respect of the deposit made with his application, and from the actual dates of payment in respect of subsequent instalments.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0 and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

HISTORICAL RECORD OF THE IMPERIAL VISIT TO INDIA, 1911.

This book, which has been compiled by the Government of India from the official records, contains a complete and authoritative account of the proceedings connected with the visit of Their Imperial Majesties to India and with the Coronation Durbar of December 1911, including lists of the persons taking part in all the various celebrations and ceremonies at which Their Imperial Majesties were present, as well as a large number of illustrations, portraits of Ruling Princes and others, coloured Persian and Sanscrit texts, maps, plans, etc.

The book has been published by Mr. John Murray, Albemarle Street, London, W., and copies are now procurable from all the principal booksellers.

There are two editions—a popular one in a cloth binding, price Rs. 7-8-0, and a very limited edition de luxe, price Rs. 250, which has been subscribed for. As the popular edition is strictly limited, and a considerable portion of it has been absorbed in requisitions already received and in the requirements of libraries, schools, etc., it will probably be exhausted very soon after publication. Those who have not yet ordered copies but require them are therefore advised to order at an early date. Application should be made to the Superintendent, Government Printing, India, Calcutta.

INDIAN ORDER OF MERIT.

No. 727.—The Governor-General in Council is pleased to sanction the following admissions to the Military Division of the Indian Order of Merit :—

For admission to the 2nd Class of the Order.

(a) Jemadar Sudhan Singh, 7th Hariana Lancers, for very conspicuous gallantry near Shaiba on the 13th April 1915, in charging the enemy's trenches on North Mound under very heavy fire from all sides. In doing so he showed remarkable bravery and set a fine example. He and his gallant Squadron Commander were unfortunately killed a few yards in front of the enemy's position.

His widow (if any) is admitted to the pension of the Order with effect from the date of his death.

(b) No. 318 Sepoy Yarak, 24th Punjabis, for conspicuous gallantry and coolness throughout the action at Barjisiyah on the 14th April 1915, as No. 1 on No. 2 Machine Gun. It was only the restraining influence of the Machine Gun Officer that prevented Sepoy Yarak from carrying the gun in advance of the firing line. By his courageous behaviour he set a fine example to his comrades.

(c) No. 1498 Lance-Naik Sakaram More, 110th Mahratta Light Infantry, for gallantry and ability at Barjisiyah on the 14th April 1915, in the skilful handling of his party of scouts throughout the action. He was continuously exposed to the enemy's machine gun and rifle fire.

When only two officers were left with the regiment he came up from behind and took part in the second attack on the 27th May.

He divided his time between assisting in the front line, where he was of the greatest help, and going back through Ypres under heavy shell fire to arrange for rations, etc.

* * * * * * * *

Second Lieutenant Alfred Cyril Curtis, Unattached List, Indian Army (attached 1st Battalion, The Bedfordshire Regiment).

Between 1st and 7th May 1915, was in the trenches near "Hill 60," and was twice subjected to attacks by asphyxiating gas. After his senior Officer was wounded he took charge of the trenches and, in spite of sickness, held on to No. 47 trench, though the enemy got round his right flank and enfiladed him. He withstood all efforts of the enemy to work down the trench and bomb the garrison out, and organised frequent counter-attacks with hand grenades. No. 47 trench was also subjected to artillery fire from various directions, which caused considerable loss, and during the 6th May was cut off from the remainder of the line and unable to obtain rations or water. The casualties in this trench were very heavy, and the strain intense.

Rainfall summary for the seven days ending at 8 hrs. on Thursday, the 5th August 1915, based on the Indian Daily Weather Reports of the period.

It gave moderate to heavy rain in Orissa and the central parts of the country, and as it moved westwards carried rainfall into Rajputana and the southeast Punjab. Good rain fell during the week in the United Provinces, chiefly in the western districts.

2. Burma.—Rainfall was nearly general throughout the week in Lower Burma and local in Upper Burma.

Northeast India, including Orissa.—Nearly general rain fell in Assam on the 29th and 30th July, in Bengal on the 2nd and 3rd August, in Orissa on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd August and in Chota Nagpur every day, except the 30th and 31st July.

DEPARTMENT OF REVENUE AND AGRICULTURE.

Season and Crop Prospects for the week ending Saturday, 31st July 1915.

Burma.—In Lower Burma heavy rain was general. Akyab, Kyaukpyu, Sandoway, Amherst and Tavoy report 25, 19, 20, 17 and 25 inches of rain respectively. In Upper Burma except in the dry zone where scanty rain was received the fall was moderate. Agricultural operations for winter rice in Lower Burma and for juar and late sesamum in Upper Burma are progressing. Standing crops are generally satisfactory. Cattle are healthy. Pasturage is ample. The price of unhusked rice at Rangoon is steady but much above normal.

Assam.—The weather is seasonable and favourable to standing crops and for ploughing. Agricultural operations in the Surma Valley have been stopped by floods but are being resumed in places. Plucking and manufacture of tea continue. Transplantation of winter rice and harvesting of autumn rice and jute are in progress. Prospects of tea are good and those of autumn rice and jute fair. Some damage to transplanted winter rice by insect pests is still reported from Sibsagar. The price of common rice is stationary. Cattle disease is reported from seven districts. Insufficiency of fodder is reported from Sylhet, Sibsagar and Nowgong.

Bengal.—Heavy rain fell in parts of the Bakarganj and Chittagong districts. The fall was light to moderate elsewhere. More rain is wanted in most of the western districts and in some of the eastern districts also for the transplantation of winter rice and for the steeping and washing of jute. Harvesting of autumn paddy and jute is in progress throughout the Province. Transplantation of winter rice is being delayed in some districts owing to the insufficiency of rainfall. Damage to standing crops by insect pests is reported from parts of the Nadia, Jessore, Khulna and Birbhum districts and scarcity of fodder is reported from parts of the Mymensingh and Tippera districts. Cattle disease exists in ten districts. The distress prevailing in Noakhali and Tippera has somewhat abated. The daily average of persons employed on relief works in those two districts during the week ending 31st July amounted to 76 and 586 persons, respectively. The total number of persons in receipt of gratuitous relief in Noakhali during the week was 23,344. The average price of common rice for the Province remained stationary with a slight tendency to fall as compared with that of the previous week.

Bihar and Orissa.—Generally light to moderate rain fell in all districts of the Province. Weeding of autumn crops continues. The recent rainfall has facilitated the transplantation of winter paddy but more rain is wanted for the operation in Orissa and in parts of Bihar and Chota Nagpur. Sugarcane, jute and other standing crops are doing well. The average price of common rice has risen as compared with that of the preceding week. The supply of fodder and water is sufficient. Cattle disease is reported from thirteen districts. The average daily attendance on test works in the Basudebpur and Soro thanas of the district of Balasore was 72 and 17 respectively. The condition of standing crops in the Feudatory States of Orissa is good but more rain is badly wanted in several States for the transplantation of paddy.

United Provinces.—Good rain has fallen throughout the Provinces and has benefitted the standing crops but more rain is still wanted in some districts of Rohilkhand and the upper and central Doab. Prospects are generally good. Floods have occurred in a few places but no serious damage has been done. Weeding of autumn crops, transplantation of late rice and preparation of fields for spring crops continue. Agricultural stock is in good condition, though slight cattle disease still exists in some villages. Food, fodder and water are ample everywhere. New grass has sprung up. Prices show a slight upward tendency.

Punjab.—Light rain fell in many districts. In parts of the submontane and north-western tracts the fall was moderate. It was beneficial for standing crops but was generally insufficient for unirrigated sowings. More rain is badly wanted. Sowings of autumn crops continue and are generally below normal on irrigated and much restricted on unirrigated areas. The condition of standing irrigated crops is good in the south east and average elsewhere. Unirrigated crops are poor owing to insufficient rain. Cattle are healthy and fodder and water for drinking and irrigation are generally insufficient. Prices are rising and generally range between warning and scarcity rates or are above scarcity rates. Price of wheat :—Ambala 9, Lahore, Rawalpindi and Lyallpur 9¼ and Ferozepore 9¾ seers per rupee.

North-West Frontier Province.—Slight rain fell in the Swabi tahsil of the Peshawar district and in the Bannu tahsil of the Bannu district. The weather is intensely hot in Peshawar. Rain is urgently required in Dera Ismail Khan. The condition of crops is average on irrigated areas in Peshawar while, in Bannu it is good to average and in Dera Ismail Khan average. Maize and chari have been sown in some places in Peshawar. Sowings of maize, bajra, juar, mung and moth have commenced in the Lakki tahsil of the Bannu district and those of autumn crops are in progress in Dera Ismail Khan. Sugarcane is being damaged by insects in Bannu. Harvesting of extra spring crops is proceeding in Bannu with outturn good to average. The condition of cattle is generally good in Peshawar and Bannu and fair in Dera Ismail Khan. Fodder and water are sufficient in Peshawar and Bannu. In Dera Ismail Khan fodder is procurable but the water supply is diminishing in certain villages. The Paharpur canal is running. The price of wheat and barley is stationary and of gram has fallen in Peshawar. The price of wheat is rising and of gram is stationary in Bannu, but in the Lakki tahsil of the Bannu district the prices are falling while in Dera Ismail Khan they are high but stationary. The public health is good.

Jammu.—Slight rain fell during the week. Prices are fluctuating. Wheat sells from 8¾ to 13 and maize from 6 to 17 seers per rupee. The condition of standing crops is good. There is no cattle disease. Fodder is sufficient.

Kashmir.—The rainfall during the week was good in Muzaffarabad and insignificant elsewhere. Autumn crops are in bad condition for want of rain. Cattle disease prevails in Anantnag. Fodder is insufficient in Baramula. Prices are high. The water-supply is unequal to the demand.

Rajputana.—Report not received.

Central India.—The rainfall was general in Indore, Bhopal, Baghelkhand, Bundelkhand, Malwa and the Southern States and partial in Gwalior. The fall was insufficient in Gwalior, the Rampura Bhanpura district of the Indore State, the Khilchipur State of the Bhopal Agency, the Samthar, Charkhari, Dhurwai, Bijna and Banka Pahari States of Bundelkhand and in the Sailana State of the Malwa Agency. The weather is cloudy. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress everywhere. Land is being prepared for spring crops in Dhar of the Southern States. Standing crops are generally good. Agricultural stock is good except in the Narsinghgarh and Korwai States of the Bhopal Agency and in parts of the Manpur pargana of the Southern States where cattle disease is reported. The fodder supply is sufficient throughout except in seven parganas of Gwalior and in the Rampura Bhanpura district of Indore. Prices are high in Baghelkhand, are normal in Bhopal, are fluctuating in Indore and are steady elsewhere.

Central Provinces.—The weather continues to be cloudy and rainy. The rainfall during the week was generally well distributed and ranged from ½ inch in Bilaspur to 22 inches in Jubbulpore. Sowing of autumn crops is nearing completion. Transplantation of rice is in progress and weeding has begun. Cattle are in good condition. Fodder and water are sufficient. Prices are generally unchanged but those of wheat and gram show a slight tendency to rise.

Feudatory States.—Moderate to heavy rain was received by all the States. Sowing of autumn crops is in progress.

Bombay.—Good and beneficial rain fell during the week throughout the Presidency, but more rain is needed in Sind, Gujarat, Kathiawar, Palanpur and Rewa Kantha. Sowing is generally progressing. Transplantation continues in Sind, Surat, the Konkan, Satara, Poona, Belgaum and Savantvadi. Seedlings have been damaged by insects in the Upper Sind Frontier and by heavy rain in two talukas of Poona and are withering in Karachi, three talukas of Larkana and three talukas of Thar and Parkar. The fodder supply is sufficient except in Hyderabad, Thar and Parkar, Kaira, Baroda, two talukas and two mahals of Karachi, and five talukas of Nawabshah. Cattle are in good condition. Agricultural stock is sufficient except in two talukas of Poona, Hyderabad and Thar and Parkar. Drinking water is generally sufficient. Autumn crops are being sown and weeded and their germination is satisfactory. Crops have been damaged by caterpillars and rats in parts of the Raichur and Usmanabad districts. Early rice is being sown and the crop is in good condition. Water scarcity prevails in one taluka and cattle disease in three. Prices of grains are almost constant. The highest price in districts is juar 10 seers per rupee in Warangal and the lowest 24 seers per rupee in Adilabad.

Mysore.—The rainfall was good in Mysore, Hassan, Kadur and Shimoga, and light elsewhere. Prices of food grains are generally steady. Markets are well supplied. Standing crops are generally in good condition. Prospects of the season are good. Cattle are generally healthy. Water and fodder are available.

Coorg.—Rainfall 15 inches 74 cents. Ploughing for rice and transplantation operations continue. Prices of food grains are high. The public health is fair. Fodder for cattle is sufficient.

Madras.—The rainfall was very heavy in the Nilgiris and in the west coast except Travancore, heavy in Ganjam and in the Vizagapatam Agency, good to fair in the Vizagapatam littoral, Godavari, Kistna, Guntur, Chittoor, North Arcot, Salem, Travancore and Carnatic except South Arcot and light or nil elsewhere. Standing crops are fair to good but require more rain in parts of three districts. Harvesting of paddy, sugarcance, and dry crops is proceeding with outturn fair to normal generally. Sowings of paddy, sugarcane and dry crops are proceeding normally. The condition of cattle is generally good. The water-supply is sufficient in Ganjam and Kurnool and in parts of Bellary, Anantapur, Nellore, South Arcot, Madura, Ramnad and the central parts except Trichinopoly.
